

JUDICIARY CHAIRMAN URGES HOUSE 'TO HAVE NERVE' TO AMEND OR DEFEAT REORGANIZATION MEASURE

NEW WAGE PLAN GIVEN APPROVAL BY HOUSE GROUP

Measure Would Establish 40-Cent Minimum Hourly Pay and a 40-Hour Work Week for Industry

BILL IS DRAFTED WITHOUT G. O. P. AID

Measure Would Create Five-Man Agency To Administer Legislation.

WASHINGTON, April 6.—(AP)—

A revised wage-hour bill, designed to make present wage averages the initial legal standard and establish gradually a 40-cent minimum hourly wage and a 40-hour week, won approval today of the Democratic members of a house labor subcommittee.

Democrats on the subcommittee drafted the measure without Republican aid because they had failed for weeks to reach an agreement with the minority members.

Would Create Board.
The bill would prohibit employers engaged in interstate commerce from paying wages lower than the average in their industry.

It would create an independent board empowered to increase the minimum wage not more than five cents an hour in any 12-month period until the wage reached 40 cents an hour. The board could fix the length of the work-week anywhere between 40 and 48 hours.

The bill would prohibit interstate shipment of the products of child labor, defined as those made by children under 16 or under 18 in hazardous occupations.

Fate of Measure.

Chairman Norton, Democrat, New Jersey, said the measure would come before the entire house labor committee next Tuesday. Most members said that even if approved by that group, the bill's fate would be decided largely by the house rules committee which has refused consistently to give wage-hour legislation the right-of-way to the house floor.

As approved by the labor subcommittee, the bill would require appointment of the five-member board on a territorial basis—one member each from the northeast, northwest, southeast, southwest and central sections.

Reports Required.

The board would be required to report to the President through one of the regular cabinet members, to be designated by the President.

Representative Ramspeck, Democrat, Georgia, chairman of the subcommittee, said that would enable the President to get reports from the board at cabinet meetings.

Ramspeck said the bill narrowed the possibility of wage differentials but that they could be established if the facts justified them, though not on a geographical basis.

Employees of purely local firms would be exempted, as would agricultural and railroad workers. Those engaged seasonally in canning and packing of foodstuffs

Military, City Leaders Join To Observe Army Day

As part of the national celebration of Army Day, Captain Reed M. Fawell, U. S. N., commandant of the Georgia Tech naval unit, and Mayor Harrisfield, center, were among guests of Major General George Van Horn Moseley, right, at an informal luncheon. General Moseley, commander of the fourth corps area, gave the luncheon at his headquarters. Rain drowned out a special review at Fort McPherson, but "open house" was observed at the post from 4 to 5 o'clock. The 22d infantry band was presented in a concert from a temporary stand at Walton and Forsyth streets.

AMERICA MARKS WAR ANNIVERSARY

Senate Approves $491,000,000 Bill To Maintain Army During Next Year

WASHINGTON, April 6.—(AP)—President Roosevelt stood for an hour and a half in a biting cold wind today to review 15,000 troops, men and women of patriotic organizations, and school cadets in the capital's observance of Army Day.

The military ceremonies also commemorated the 21st anniversary of the United States' entry into the World War.

In the reviewing stand with the President were Secretary of War Woodring and Chief of Staff Malin Craig.

Army Bill Voted.

At the same time, a $491,000,000 bill to maintain the army during the next fiscal year, the largest appropriation for that purpose since 1921, won the approval of the senate today.

The senate returned the bill to the house by voice vote for action on amendments that added approximately $43,000,000 to the house-approved total.

The most controversial issues were an increase of $15,806,225 for ordnance, chiefly anti-aircraft guns and ammunition, the addition of $10,000,000 to contract authorizations for purchase of anti-aircraft guns, and an increase of $16,790,747 in the allowance for coast defenses.

Debate Is Ended.

Ending a debate that almost resulted in fistfuffs yesterday, Senator McKellar, Democrat, Tennessee, declared there was not a "scintilla of evidence" that these items were needed, while Senator Copland, Democrat, New York, contended they were essential to protect the nation against possible invasion.

By a 36-to-29 vote which split party lines, the senate approved the ordnance increase. The increase in contract authorizations was adopted, 37 to 29.

NEW YORK, April 6.—(AP)—Mrs. Jean Canfield Corbin, Connecticut heiress, who obtained a Reno divorce decree from Alden Hampton Vose Jr., a cotton broker, to marry the one-time doorman at the Voses' apartment house, Ewart A. Corbin, began a court action today for custody of her one-year-old daughter.

Mrs. Corbin's petition in state supreme court asserted that Vose had denied all her requests to be permitted to see and have custody of the child, Gail Canfield Vose.

War Department Asks Immediate Draft Law

WASHINGTON, April 6.—(UP)—

Assistant Secretary of War Louis Johnson, in a significant radio address tonight warned both North and South America are endangered by the "covetous hands" of nations "which believe in the doctrine of force."

He urged immediate enactment of a selective service law to enable speedy mobilization of America's man-power, thus serving notice on the world that the United States is prepared for any eventuality.

Johnson explained that the proposed selective service would require registration of all males between the ages of 21 and 30, which he said could be accomplished in one day through utilization of state election machinery. He pointed out that the plan did not envisage any compulsory training and would be inoperative except for registration in event of war.

"Each registrant will be issued a numbered card and names and numbers will be published in each local community," he said. "Following registration, a national drawing will decide who shall be first and who shall be last."

"It will then be the task of a board of local citizens in 8,000 communities to decide whether their neighbor shall serve his country as a soldier or a sailor, or whether he is of more value to the government as a munitions worker or a farmer."

"If his neighbors decide, after a physical examination, that he should go, he will be ready to join the next quota going forth from his community to do his full share in the defense of his country."

He said plans for installing such a system already have been drawn up.

driving snowstorm snarled traffic and disrupted communications along a 1,800-mile trail today. Vestiges of spring vanished under a wintry mantle as high winds whipped the flakes across northern states from southwestern Montana to the Atlantic seaboard.

The unseasonable fall reached a maximum depth of 17 inches. It surpassed last winter's marks at some places and buried all-time April records at others.

Blocked roads prompted officials to close rural schools in Iowa and South Dakota. Between 1,000 and 3,000 telephone and telegraph wires snapped under a burden of ice and sleet in Iowa.

2.18 INCHES OF RAIN FALL DURING DAY

A total of 2.18 inches of rain fell in Atlanta from 7 o'clock yesterday morning until 12:30 o'clock this morning, the Canby reported.

The total did not break a record, but officials said it was more than "moderate." Of the total, .99 inch was recorded between 6 o'clock last night and midnight.

Snow enveloped the state of South Dakota. It ranged up to 17 inches at Wessington Springs and to 12 inches at Huron and Chamberlain.

Lander, Wyo., reported a 14-inch deposit and Charles City, Iowa 10. Measurements varied between eight inches and a foot in northern Indiana.

The announcement came as two foreign promoters—Francis W. Rickett, of Great Britain, and Bernard E. Smith, New York stock broker, were negotiating with Mexican officials to buy a part of the government's oil output. Unconfirmed reports were that HENDAYE, France. (At the Spanish Frontier), April 6.—(AP)—Insurgent dispatches tonight announced General Jose Moscarda's insurgents troops captured Balaguer, in northeast Spain, the town which controls all Catalan hydro-electric power lines.

Balaguer, 15 miles northeast of Lerida, is at the northern end of the government's defense line thrown up to check the insurgent sweep toward Barcelona and the Mediterranean.

Reinforced government troops streamed down from mountain fastnesses today in a flank attack on Spanish insurgents hammering at Tortosa, to reach the Mediterranean sea.

While "suicide squads" of militiamen held approaches to the walled city, wave after wave of government troops struck from the heights which hemmed in General Franco's column. They drove insurgents out of several positions previously occupied in bitter hand-to-hand fighting.

Both sides sped reinforcements to the battle area, where government resistance to the insurgent

The Prince was said to have left Juliana March 26 and to have taken up residence "somewhere in Holland" after arguing with the Queen and Princess regarding the impending marriage of his brother, Prince Aachwin.

Queen Wilhelmina was reported to have objected to Prince Aachwin's plans to marry Jettie Sandberg, a widow seven years his senior.

FATHER OF 3 FAILS IN SUICIDE EFFORT

Lack of Money Forces Death Attempt; Lack of Gas Saves His Life.

The lack of money which caused a father of three young children to attempt to end his life saved his life early last night—because his car ran out of gasoline.

The paradoxical story of not having enough money to live on and not enough money to die was revealed by Patrolmen H. G. Tugle and George D. Jackson, of DeKalb county police.

The officers reported that James Worthy, 34, of 1018 Ormeau avenue, S. E., told them he tried to commit suicide by inhaling fumes from his 1931 model automobile, but the attempt failed when the motor stopped, due to lack of gasoline.

Police Are Called.

A call to police headquarters by Mrs. Robert L. Heath that a strange man was on her front porch first sent officers to her home at 445 Superior avenue, Decatur.

There they learned that Worthy had staggered on to the porch and had knocked on the front door. Due to his dazed condition, Mrs. Heath believed he was intoxicated and thus called police.

The officers found Worthy in front of the home of J. F. Wooten, at 437 Superior avenue.

"I have no money and I was tired of seeing my wife and kids go hungry," the officers quoted Worthy as saying.

They questioned him further

Leadership Wins Agreement To End Bitter Debate on Legislation.

WASHINGTON, April 6.—(AP)—

An ace card went into play in the government reorganization contest today when Representative Sumners, Democrat, Texas, arose to demand drastic alterations in the bill empowering President Roosevelt to revamp executive agencies.

If attempts to amend the bill fail, it should be killed outright, said Sumners, who is the influential chairman of the house judiciary committee.

Opponents of the measure had counted heavily on his speech, remembering that an address he made last year helped kill the Roosevelt bill to reorganize the supreme court.

However, supporters of the present measure, found some satisfaction in Sumners' speech today, in that he did not go along with those who favored killing the measure forthwith.

"Nerve to Beat It." The opposition had been rallying its strength for an effort to defeat the bill without proceeding to the stage of amendments. But Sumners said:

"I feel now it would be a mistake not to consider this bill. Let's do the best we can to amend it, and then if we can't amend it as we think it ought to be, let's have the nerve to beat it."

Sumners said the country was demanding that fewer emergency powers be given the executive.

"The people instinctively consented to concentration of emergency power to deal with an emergency situation," he said. "But instinctively after a while they begin to move in the opposite direction and we are in the trend of that movement now."

He spoke after the leadership had obtained an agreement to end debate on the measure at the close of today's session.

COURT REVERSES
DEPORTATION CASE'Red' Charge Against Cafe
Man Revoked in Appeal

NEW ORLEANS, April 6.—(AP)—The United States fifth circuit court of appeals today reversed Federal Judge Borah who remanded Joseph George Strecker, a Hot Springs, Ark., restaurant proprietor, to immigration authorities for deportation.

Strecker was ordered deported in 1934 under congressional acts because, it was contended, "he believed in and teaches, and is a member of an organization that believes in and teaches overthrow by force and violence of the government of the United States."

Judge Joseph C. Hutcheson, who wrote the opinion of the three-judge appellate court, said that, although the evidence showed Strecker became a member of the Communist party in 1932, it does not necessarily follow that he "teaches overthrow of the United States government."

Sumners Asks Amendment
Or Defeat of Reorganization

'Let's Have Nerve,' Democratic Leader Declares in House.

Saxon institutions maintained, he said, who "is fit to be in the White House—and we assume the present occupant is—can fail to be gratified at the awakening of the American people" against concentration of power.

At another point Sumners said: "We aren't trying to do something to the President of the United States. We're trying to get legislation on a subject regarded as important."

"Communists Back Bill." Representative Knutson, Republican, Minnesota, told the house that Earl Browder, the Communist party's candidate for President in 1936, "has been calling upon house members and urging them to vote for the passage of the President's reorganization plan."

Can it be? Knutson inquired, "that Mr. Browder knows that the passage of this legislation will hasten the day of one-man rule in America, what they now have in Russia? What other object can Mr. Browder have?"

"We all know that the Communists do not believe in rule by the people. That has been amply demonstrated in Russia where the purge has superseded the ballot."

Not Going to Take Chance. Knutson said that while he did not believe President Roosevelt aspired to be a dictator he was not going to "take a chance by finessing in this instance."

Under the reorganization bill, the Minnesota asserted, the executive can practically destroy the Civil Service Commission by making its chief absolutely subservient to his will.

The independence of the general accounting office, which is the only check now on "the galloping hounds of waste," he said, would be placed under the thumb of the President.

Threat to Prestige. "Nothing will so break the prestige of Franklin Delano Roosevelt as the passage of this bill," Representative Wolcott, Republican, Michigan, said at another point.

"We republicans are going to vote against this bill even though in so doing we'll add prestige to the Democratic party and aid you Democrats."

The one great outstanding mistake you've made in the last five years is to build your party around one individual, as the popularity of that individual declines, so that of your party declines."

Wolcott suggested that the President withdraw the bill until the next session of congress.

Representative Bigelow, Democrat, Ohio, said he did not believe the "hurricane" of protests against the bill from his congressional district had been "organized propaganda," consequently, he added, he believed he would vote against the program.

Opponents of the measure refused to permit the debate to end in three hours, which would have made the first major test of strength come this afternoon. The test will be a motion to strike the enacting clause from the bill.

Amid scenes of disorders, with more than a dozen members shouting for recognition, Chairman Cochran, Democrat, Missouri, of the reorganization committee, won approval of a proposal to chop off debate in the house adjourns today and to open the bill to amendment the first thing tomorrow.

BROWDER DENIES URGING CONGRESSMEN

CHICAGO, April 6.—(AP)—Earl Browder, Communist candidate for President in 1936, said tonight he had not been urging congressmen "to vote for or against any particular form of reorganization."

Commenting upon an assertion of Representative Knutson, Republican, Minnesota, on the house floor today that Browder "has been calling upon congressmen and urging them to vote for passage of the President's reorganization plan," Browder said:

"Congressman Knutson is not really worried about myself, my party, or even the reorganization bill, except as he can deliver a blow against the President, the New Deal, and every move to curb the power of Wall Street. I have not been urging congressmen to vote for or against any particular form of reorganization."

MRS. EMMA MERRITT
DIES; RITES TOMORROW

Mrs. Emma Merritt, 72, of 791 Ashland avenue, N. E., died yesterday afternoon in a hospital. She recently underwent an operation for a broken hip, sustained three weeks ago in a fall at her home.

Born in Watkinsville, Mrs. Merritt moved here from Gainesville about five years ago.

Survivors include her sister, Mrs. R. J. McGaughey and the following nieces and nephews, of Atlanta: Mrs. Jack Reid, Miss Frances McGaughey, Mrs. Clarence Pitts, Miss Elma McDonald and J. A. McGaughey.

Funeral services will be conducted at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning at Spring Hill by the Rev. W. A. Shelton. Burial will be in Williams cemetery, near Windsor.

ROPER SAYS TRADE
RETARDED BY FEARS

Secretary Says One Is of Possible Legislative Proposals.

WASHINGTON, April 6.—(AP)—Fear of possible administration legislative proposals is one of the factors holding back business recovery, Secretary of Commerce Roper said today.

He gave this prescription for eliminating it: "The passage through congress of legislation which is proper as quickly as possible so the country will know that the legislative program is through."

The secretary of commerce said adjustment of congress would stimulate business because businessmen would know then what conditions they would have to meet in the next several months.

Quick enactment of the tax bill would be helpful, he said, since it would remove uncertainty about business taxes.

Roper conceded that fear of the administration was a factor in the recession when he was asked at a press conference if this were true.

"We are startled by the fear of fear, the fear of each other," he said. "To overcome this we need the courage of action or faith in the ultimate solution of all of our problems."

Roper declined to say whether fear of the administration was the most depressing of business' fears.

Special Session Will Check
Convict Camp Releases.

Fulton county grand jury will hold another special session at 3 o'clock this afternoon to examine witnesses in the probe into graft among law enforcement officials and to further check records of several convict camps in the county for possibility of "irregular" releases.

Jurors met until late last night questioning business people and convicts in connection with the special probe. It was also understood the jury was looking into reports of conditions of prisoners at county camps.

Committees from the jury Tuesday night inspected records at all the county camps as part of the regular investigative duties. The March-April grand jury is especially charged by law to investigate county affairs and departments.

RAMSPECK TO OFFER
REFORM BILL RIDER

Georgian Would Curtail
Power Over Civil Service Commission.

By GLADSTONE WILLIAMS.
WASHINGTON, April 6.—Chairman Ramspeck, of the house civil service committee, today declared he would offer an amendment to the reorganization bill designed to sharply curtail power over the civil service commission he said the present measure gives the President.

The amendment, which the Georgian said he would introduce tomorrow or Friday, would retain the present three-member bipartisan commission but would provide for a civil service administrator who would wield executive powers only.

"The civil service commission," he asserted, "has certain legislative powers, it exercises semi-judicial powers, and those powers should not, in my judgment, be delegated to any single person."

"Those of us who are attempting to write amendments into the bill cannot fairly be charged with being against the President."

Representative Cochran, of Missouri, in charge of the bill, agreed with the Georgian that his committee did not follow the recommendations of President Roosevelt's Brownlow committee which drafted a reorganization report for the White House.

The committee on government reorganization, he declared, held no public hearings and invited only a selected list of witnesses to appear before it. He added that as far as he knew, neither he or any member of the house was consulted with reference to placing civil service under a single administrative head.

"I feel very strongly about this matter," Ramspeck said. "Under the new setup you will not have the slightest protection, not the slightest check on the administrator. He will have all the power of law subject to no one except the President of the United States. I think it is time, my friends, that we might as well remember that Democrats will not always be in power."

Japan's War Against China Is Temporarily Stalemated

Tokyo Armies Unable To Swallow Vast Lunghai Rail Area.

SHANGHAI, April 7.—(Thurs.)—Japan's war with China, nine months old today, has reached at least a temporary stalemate with little indication of how or when it will end.

The Rising Sun army, which swept through the northern cities of Peiping and Tientsin last summer, drove the Chinese out of Shanghai November 9, and captured Nanking December 13, has been unable to swallow the vast Lunghai area of central China.

A stubborn army of 400,000 Chinese has kept the invaders from reaching the Lunghai railroad, China's east-west lifeline through the heart of the area which separates Japanese northern conquests from captured Nanking, Shanghai, and lower Yangtze river valley plains.

Focus of Attacks.

Japan's latest effort to sever the Lunghai artery has centered around the ruined village of Taienwang, 20 miles north of the Lunghai and near its eastern terminus, Haichow.

The village has been the focus of Japanese attacks for 18 days, since the previous Japanese attempt to reach the Lunghai was thwarted on the northern bank of the Yellow river at a point about 300 miles to the west.

The Chinese analysis of the failure of Japanese to take the Lunghai speedily was this:

Behind Japanese lines, Chinese irregulars time and again have severed temporarily Japanese rail routes to the front.

Both the Tientsin-Pukow line which feeds the eastern wing of Japan's Lunghai armies and the Peiping-Hankow road to its western front have been subjected to attacks by North China guerrillas who pose as peasants by day and take up their broadswords and rifles at night.

Trade Affected.

Extended warfare has had a depressing effect on business—Japanese, foreign, and Chinese.

United States cotton dealers es-time China's cotton consumption has been cut to half the normal 200,000 bales monthly through destruction of mills.

Business of most American tobacco companies has been seriously impaired, the oil trade has dwindled, and other lines have been correspondingly affected.

U. S. SAILORS EN ROUTE TO PATROL ON YANGTZE

CANTON, China, April 6.—(P) A special train of four coaches with large American flags painted on their roofs left Canton for Hankow today carrying 100 United States sailors en route to join the Yangtze patrol as replacements.

The bluejackets were brought here from Hong Kong by the American gunboat Mindanao.

The 600-mile journey to Hankow is being made by the Canton-Hankow railway, frequently bombed by Japanese airplanes, hence the flags.

ATLANTAN TO HEAD SOCIAL WORK BODY

F. F. Athearn Is Chosen as Conference Ends Macon Sessions.

MACON, Ga., April 6.—(P)—F. F. Athearn, of Atlanta, today was elected president of the Georgia Conference on Social Work, which has been in session here since Monday.

Miss Gay B. Shepperson, WPA administrator for Georgia, was chosen first vice president, and W. E. Ireland, Milledgeville, and Mrs. E. B. Harrold, Macon, were named second and third vice presidents, respectively. Miss Rhoda Kaufman, of Atlanta, was elected treasurer. Frank Miller is executive secretary.

The elections came at the end of a business session at which reports were submitted and proposed changes in the constitution discussed.

The group voted to assemble at Albany the week after Easter next year.

The conference closed tonight at a joint session with members of the Georgia Probation Officers' Association, whose convention will continue through tomorrow.

Bates Is Speaker.

Sanford Bates, executive director of Boys' Clubs of America, addressing the final session, said "control of the crime situation must begin at the bottom, with local police, magistrates, lawyers and the courts."

Those are the places, he said, which deal with criminals at the base of the pyramid. "There we shall find plenty that needs remedying."

Dean R. P. Brooks, of the University of Georgia school of commerce, proposed consolidation of counties to reduce governmental cost and diversion of gasoline taxes to provide better support of public welfare activities.

He said 57 per cent of the state's income in 1935 went to highways, compared to 5 per cent for welfare services.

"Highway construction and maintenance are bleeding many of the counties white," he said. "I see no way to justify this situation."

Uniform Assessment.

He also suggested a state-wide drive to bring about a more uniform assessment among counties and to place on the tax digest many millions of dollars' worth of property "now paying no taxes."

Miss Roberta Morgan, of Washington, national case supervisor of the American Red Cross, another speaker, said democratic functioning was vital to social service as well as in political institutions.

"In planning done by professional social workers, caution must be exercised so that in our impatience to reach desired ends we are not blinded to the means we must use in gaining them," she said.

Training of social workers was compared with that of architects and other professional workers by Miss Florence Sytz, associate professor of social case work at Tulane University, New Orleans.

She said lack of conviction and regard for the social security program "is the primary factor which causes confusion" in the program.

"There must be no forgotten men, women or children in a democracy," she said.

NAVY CHAIRMAN URGES BUILDING OF DIRIGIBLES

WASHINGTON, April 6.—(P)—Chairman Walsh, Democrat, Massachusetts, of the senate naval affairs committee, suggested today the construction of American dirigibles to provide a "merchant marine of the air."

The government should build a training ship of at least 3,000,000 cubic feet which would be capable of carrying airplanes, he said. He also urged that the government help develop passenger-carrying airships to be operated privately.

Weight Nearly Doubled By Taliaferro Triplets

WASHINGTON, Ga., April 6. James, Jene and Jerry, Caesarean triplet boys born in January to Mr. and Mrs. Robert Edward Moore, 22-year-old Tallapoosa county, in a Washington hospital, have nearly doubled their weight and now tip the scales at 25 pounds.

James, the first born, whose birth-weight was 5 1/4 pounds, compared with 4 3/4 and 4 1/2 pounds for his "younger" brothers, is now trailing them at 8 pounds. Jene and Jerry now weigh 8 1/2 pounds each.

The Moore babies, though the first Caesarean triplets, are the fourth set of triplets born in Wilkes county in the last quarter of a century. In each of the other cases, two of each set of triplets grew to maturity. One set of quintuplets was recorded, but all died.

FRANCE SEEKS PACT TO DEFEND CZECHS

Paris Moves To Line Up Russia, Poland, Rumania and Yugoslavia.

PARIS, April 6.—(P)—A plan for an alliance linking Soviet Russia, Poland, Rumania and Yugoslavia with France for defense of Czechoslovakia against possible attack from Nazi Germany was presented today by Foreign Minister Joseph Paul-Boncour.

The proposal was outlined to the French ambassadors to Moscow and Warsaw and the ministers to Praha and Bucharest who were summoned hurriedly to Paris after Germany annexed Austria.

The diplomats were instructed to sound the governments to which they are accredited regarding such a line-up. Similar instructions were sent the French minister to Yugoslavia.

Each was told to ask the four powers to state their exact position. It was pointed out that Russia, Poland, Rumania and Yugoslavia all are allied with France in varying degrees, but they have no common obligation at present to each other or to Czechoslovakia.

French officials, however, have declared the four would be threatened more or less directly by German aggression anywhere in central or eastern Europe.

Officials admitted the keystone to the problem was Poland which has been accused by French officials of flirting with Germany.

CONCILIATORY TONE DOESN'T PLEASE

PRAGA, Czechoslovakia, April 6.—(P)—Sudeten German leaders are not favorably impressed by recent conciliatory efforts of the Czech government, it was announced by headquarters of Konrad Henlein's Sudeten German party today.

His mouthpiece, Die Zeit, said Czechs must face the fact that 1938 is not a period for grandiose celebrations for the 20th anniversary of the republic's founding, but for grappling with the "iron and inescapable necessity of coming to terms directly with the German people."

DOCTOR ABSOLVED IN 11 SERUM DEATHS

Jury Decides All Died of Injections of U. S.-Made Cancer Treatment.

ORLANDO, Fla., April 6.—(P)—A coroner's jury decided tonight 11 persons died here "as a result of cancer serum Rex 152 being injected hypodermically into their bodies, said serum having been proved to contain tetanus toxin in lethal quantities."

"We further find," the jury added, "that Dr. T. A. Neal is in no wise responsible for the presence of the tetanus toxin in the serum and we absolve him from all blame and negligence in connection with the administration of said serum and the resulting deaths."

Dr. Neal said he had given injections to 13 of 14 persons who became ill after undergoing cancer treatment. He said he had treated about 40 cancer patients over a period of three years with either "Rex" or "Ensol."

He testified Ensol was originated by Dr. H. C. Connell, of Kingston, Ontario, Canada.

"The laboratory in Canada," he added, "later permitted the Bio-Chemical Research Laboratory at Philadelphia to manufacture the cancer serum."

The witness said most of his supply of serum came from Philadelphia and was labeled "Rex," while that he received from Canada bore the label "Ensol."

"The Ensol," he declared, "was a more potent remedy and I would have preferred to use it exclusively, but I was unable to get a sufficient supply from Canadian sources."

MRS. AGNES P. BACON ASKS RENO DIVORCE

RENO, Nev., April 6.—(UP)—Details of the divorce suit filed by Mrs. Agnes Pyne Bacon, prominent in New York and Washington society, against Robert Ogden Bacon Jr., son of a former American ambassador, were revealed today.

The case was filed secretly March 28. Mrs. Bacon asked the court to award custody of their daughter, Sandra, 2, alleging that Bacon's New York home did not provide suitable facilities for raising the child.

"The Ensol," he declared, "was a more potent remedy and I would have preferred to use it exclusively, but I was unable to get a sufficient supply from Canadian sources."

TENNESSEE FARMER SLAYS WIFE AND SELF

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., April 6.—(P)—Coroner Scott termed as "murder and suicide" the deaths of Mr. and Mrs. Virgil W. Smith, whose bodies were found in their suburban home today.

Scott said his investigation showed Smith, 43, a well-to-do farmer, fired five bullets through the body of his wife, 38, and then shot himself through the heart.

NEW PLANT FOR SAVANNAH

SAVANNAH, Ga., April 6.—(P)—This city soon may become a production center for wooden plugs for paper rolls. J. L. Howard, of Bastrop, La., said operations would begin soon as a local factory can

Catholic Church's Position In New Austria Outlined

Right To Develop Fundamental Principles of Christianity Demanded.

VATICAN CITY, April 6.—(AP) A new, four-point statement set forth the Catholic church's position in Austria tonight as a sequel to Pope Pius' conference with Theodore Cardinal Innitzer, archbishop of Vienna.

The statement, drafted by Cardinal Innitzer and published in L'Osservatore Romano, the Vatican newspaper, said that for the future Austrian bishops demand: "That in all questions contemplated under the Austrian concordat no modification shall be made without previous agreement with the Holy See."

"That in particular in the application of all rules regarding both schools and education as well as youth leadership the natural rights of parents and the religious and moral training of Catholic youths according to the fundamental principles of the Catholic faith shall be assured."

To Defend Christianity. "That propaganda against religion and the church shall be prevented."

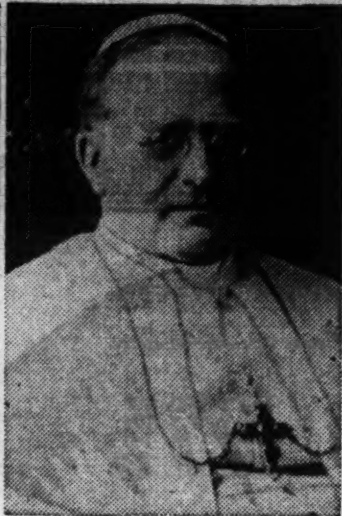

"That Catholics shall have the right to develop and defend the Catholic church and the fundamental principles of Christianity in every field of human life with every means at the disposal of contemporary civilization."

The statement opened by saying that "the solemn declaration of March 18 by the Austrian episcopate did not mean approval of that which was not and is not compatible with the laws of God and the liberty of the Catholic church."

(A declaration, apparently drawn up March 18, was read in Austrian Catholic churches March 27. It was signed by Cardinal Innitzer and five Austrian bishops. In it the prelates said it was their duty to "declare our loyalty as Germans" to the German nation in the April 10 plebiscite on union of Germany and Austria.)

New Declaration.

L'Osservatore Romano introduced the new declaration by saying Cardinal Innitzer "believed it necessary to publish" the declaration.

tion "to eliminate misunderstanding created in public opinion as a result of recent events."

After drafting the declaration, the Cardinal hastened back to Vienna. He had come here last night to give the Pope a first-hand account of events in Austria. During his visit, Cardinal Innitzer conferred three times with Eugenio Cardinal Pacelli, papal secretary of state.

CATHOLICS URGED TO FULFILL DUTY
AUGSBURG, Germany, April 6.—(AP)—Deutsches Nachrichten Bureau, official German news agency, said tonight Catholic church bells of Bavaria would ring Saturday night in an appeal to "the Catholic people to fulfill their patriotic duty" in Sunday's plebiscite on union of Austria and Germany.

SHILOH RITES HELD FOR JOHN R. WILSON

Father of Secretary of State Buried Yesterday.

LOGANVILLE, Ga., April 6.—Rites were held today in Shiloh Primitive Baptist church, two miles north of here, for John R. Wilson, 87, father of Secretary of State John B. Wilson, who died at his plantation home near here yesterday.

Mr. Wilson, a native and lifelong resident of this section, would have observed his 88th birthday next Monday.

He had been a planter and merchant 65 years, having begun business with his uncle, A. M. Brand, and continued as a merchant here 35 years. He retired to his Gwinnett county plantation home 35 years ago.

Burial was near Shiloh church, of which he had been a member 60 years.

TRAFFIC SNARLED BY RECORD SNOW

17-Inch Fall Recorded at Wessington Springs, S. D.; Schools Closed.

Cleveland, with 7.3, recorded the heaviest April snows in the history of their weather bureau. Toledo, with six inches, had the heaviest for the month in 50 years.

Burn to Death.

A swift surge of flames in a hotel and a match factory brought death to eight men and a girl in Chicago today.

The men perished in a fire at the Hotel Center in the West Madison street flophouse sector early today during the winter's worst snowstorm.

Firemen found towering tongues of flames licking up from the roof of the four-story structure. They carried 30 of the 70 guests, including 15 women, down icy ladders.

The identified victims were Joseph Berto, 60; Henry Berndt, 45; Edward Hass, 40; Thure Olson, 50, and Frank Smialek.

Sadie Palmer, 17, died in a fire which swept a one-story factory wing of the Match Corporation of America plant on West Grand avenue this afternoon.

Waist-deep drifts billowed across scores of important highways.

Autos Locked in Snow.

Hundreds of automobiles were locked in the snow hummocks along lake front drives and suburban roads in Chicago. Huge sweepers churned through four-foot mounds along streetcar lines.

Thousands were late for work. Gusts shattered several plate glass windows along Michigan boulevard. At the Madison street intersection, a rope was stretched to enable pedestrians to keep their feet. Shovel crews, aided by policemen, strove to keep loop lanes open.

Freezing Weather.

Storm belters glared at the snow hills, glanced at the calendar and scratched their heads in bewilderment. The anachronistic quip, "Bury Christmas," drew stares as cold as a main man's nose.

Freezing weather accompanied the unseasonable blizzard.

Connecticut reported a temperature of 24, a record low for the date. Boston's 25 was the lowest for the day in 51 years. A minimum of 19.1 at Binghamton, N. Y., marked the coldest April 6 there in 48 years.

A freak snowfall hit New York city while the mercury dropped to the high 20's and low 30's—far below normal.

TORNADOES, RAINS SWEEP AREAS IN SOUTH

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., April 6.—(AP)—Capricious spring spotted the south today with torrential rains, scattered flood situations, a fresh assault of tornado winds, and a threatened sharp drop in temperature.

Rain forecasts extended from Oklahoma to northwest Florida in advance of a cold wave moving eastward from the Rocky Mountain area.

Livestock warnings were posted in west Texas and Oklahoma and below-freezing temperatures were forecast in Arkansas by tomorrow night. Truck and fruit farmers in this state eyed the prediction with apprehension after pulling through two previous late cold snaps without disastrous losses.

As temperatures dropped today, tornadoes struck in Louisiana and Alabama. One disturbance destroyed two homes and injured two persons at Beaver Creek, east of Oakdale, La.

Mount Vernon, Ala., 30 miles north of Mobile, was swept by tornado winds, damaging buildings at the state insane asylum for negroes, tearing down communication lines and blowing over homes. No deaths were reported, but several persons were injured. Earlier, torrential rains fell on north Louisiana, partially inundating the town of Colfax and washing out highway bridges. Red river, in that area, was on the rise.

3-Year-Old Relief Debt Of $85 Paid by Farmer

LANCASTER, Pa., April 6.—(AP)—A farmer who received food and clothing orders amounting to $85 three years ago while on relief, today had wiped the slate clean.

He repaid the money although he was told at the relief office it was not necessary.

China can continue to import military supplies from abroad for about another year, Japanese financial experts estimate.

Sections Zoned for One-Family Residences Only

Here is the area covered by the county commission's approval yesterday of an application to zone for one-family residences only—halting a threatened advance of business into the north side residential section. The territory within the dotted line—from Peachtree creek to the shaded area along West Pace's Ferry road—was covered by application of the Manor Heights Civic Association. Another zoning application from residents along West Pace's Ferry road, which includes 500 feet on both sides of the road between the new Marietta highway and East Andrews drive.

NORTHSIDE SECTION ZONED FOR HOMES

ness the three corners on the western boundary of Haynes Manor had been filed by Eugene Haynes, president of Haynes Manor, Inc., and Lorenzo Neuhoff.

Commissioner's action zoning the area excludes apartment houses, duplex apartments, churches, hospitals and signboards—in addition to businesses.

Pope F. Brock, one of the delegates, told commissioners that property owners in the annex, residents in the area and that present values would fall if business were allowed to advance into the area.

"We don't want to get our groceries any closer to home than we do now," he said. He also pointed out possibility of the federal government making a national park in the Peachtree Battle area as an added argument against the "undesirability of business."

Two Sections.

Area covered in this association's application includes the Haynes Manor and Peachtree Heights sections. No Peachtree road frontage is included.

Beginning at Peachtree creek, the area follows a line 400 feet west of Peachtree road to Andrews drive. It then covers a territory to a point 500 feet south of Pace's Ferry road, taking in Marietta road. Property between Marietta and Howell Mill roads is excluded.

County commissioners also approved a petition to zone for one-family residences on a portion of West Pace's Ferry road, 500 feet back on each side, from East Andrews drive intersection to the Marietta highway.

Third Petition.

A third petition to zone for residences on an annex road, between Peachtree road and the Southern railroad underpass, also was approved.

Walter C. Hill, Major Clark Howell, Mrs. R. G. McAliley, Allen Post, Morris Brandon Sr. and Mrs. J. G. H. Sanders were among representatives of the Heights Manor Civic Association protesting prospective business setups at Northside drive and Peachtree Battle avenue intersection.

The first applications for retail liquor stores sent to representatives of the Ansley and Henry Grady hotels.

City Clerk Joe Richardson received blanks from the printers yesterday afternoon and two applications were delivered to A. S. Hatcher, vice president and secretary of the Ansley, and to Paul Harber, representing the Henry Grady.

Richardson approved a form for legal advertising of intention to apply for licenses, while Mayor Hartsfield pointed out applicants must present copies of the advertisements to the police committee or certificates showing the advertisement.

Intelligence Head Calls Nippon 'Defender of Western Pacific.'

TOKYO, Thursday, April 7.—(UP)—Japan regards herself as the "defender of the western Pacific" and therefore would gravely resent any increased naval activities of other powers in that area, the spokesman for naval intelligence said today.

He said that the apparent enlargement of the United States naval frontier was "being watched with very grave concern."

The spokesman said Japan's position regarding escalation of the London 1936 naval limitation by United States, France, and Great Britain was defined when Japan refused naval building information.

However he spoke at length on the Japanese navy's conception of the western Pacific situation.

"Formerly America regarded her defense area as near her coast lines but Hull's letter to Walsh indicates that America's defense line is advancing westward," he said, referring to Secretary of State Cordell Hull and Senator David I. Walsh.

"If American policy means sticking to the 5-5-3 ratio and opposing establishment of a definite naval frontier, we are watching with very grave concern. It is especially difficult to find a reason for America to maintain that ratio."

The ratio, no longer binding, provided that naval strengths of United States, Great Britain and Japan should be as five for each of the former nations compared to three for Japan.

Fire Chief Injured By Volunteer's Ax

A volunteer firefighter's efforts to be helpful caused embarrassment and injury to Fire Chief Max Wiggins, of East Point fire department, it was revealed yesterday.

Firemen were fighting a small blaze in a residence at 309 Forrest avenue Tuesday night when an enthusiastic volunteer tried to enter the basement through a window. Instead of opening the window, however, he threw an ax through it.

The ax handle struck Chief Wiggins above the right eye. He was knocked unconscious for a few moments and was treated by a physician. The identity of the thrower remains a mystery.

ACTION IS DELAYED ON AIRPORT TOWER

Council Seeks Fulton's Participation in Building Control Project.

Fulton county commission yesterday postponed until its May meeting action on a request from city council and a delegation of officials from Candier field for county participation in construction of a central control tower.

Jack Gray, manager of the municipal airport, as spokesman for the delegation, told the commission that $11,300 additional was needed to construct the tower, for which the city has appropriated $20,000.

With the increasing air traffic at the airport, lack of a control tower furnishes a "constant danger" of a mid-air crack-up Gray asserted.

Loss of Revenue.

Commissioners, pointing out that they said would be a loss of half a million dollars in revenue because of the new homestead exemption laws, postponed action.

They instructed Gray to attend the May meeting after, tax returns, now being made, are studied, when the county auditor can give a closer estimate of Fulton's financial condition.

Alderman Roy E. Callaway and Councilmen John T. Marler and Cecil Hester composed the city council delegation appearing in support of the control tower plan.

Gray declared construction of the tower was absolutely necessary and said it would bring an added pay toll of $4,000 per month to the community. He said the federal government was contemplating moving in equipment and personnel if the tower in constructed.

Expenditure Report.

Commissioner George F. Longino, chairman of public works, reported that expenditures of the public works department for the first three months of 1938 has been $399,943.71. He pointed out that since no budget had been set up, the commission would have to accept the quarterly reports and vote approval or disapproval. Expenditures for January, February and March were approved.

The commission adjourned after a five-hour meeting and voted to hold another session at 1:30 o'clock today to complete business.

ALBANY, N. Y., April 6.—(AP) Life insurance becomes a saleable commodity across savings bank counters next January 1 under a bill signed today by Governor Lehman as a "great social experiment" in behalf of low-wage earners.

The new law, sponsored by Democratic Senator Jacob H. Livingston, of New York city, and Republican Assemblyman R. Foster Piper, of Buffalo, permits savings banks to engage in the sale of insurance but prohibits the employment of solicitors and collectors.

A Sign of Wise Investment

Fortunate are the communities where a highway is closed for paving with concrete. Temporary inconvenience is quickly turned into lasting satisfaction. This means the end of spring break-up ills—frost boils, mud and ruts. Seasonal load restrictions, dust and the inconvenience of constant road tinkering can be forgotten.

Concrete stands up under all legal loads in all weather. It permits speed with safety. It cuts driving costs to motorists. It reduces road maintenance costs.

LEON BLUM TO DARE DEFEAT IN SENATE DESPITE SETBACK

Chamber Support Dwindles as Deputies Vote on Radical Measure.

PARIS, April 6.—(AP)—Premier Leon Blum, despite a split in the People's Front majority when his dictatorial financial control bill staggered through the chamber of deputies today, resolved tonight to carry his almost hopeless fight to the hostile senate.

Failure of nearly half of the members of the Radical Socialist party—one of the pillars of the People's Front coalition—to support Blum's radical bill led the premier and his Socialist ministers to consider resigning.

Deputies, however, said Leon Jauhaux promised Blum "full support" of his general confederation of labor and urged him to go on with the battle to the senate. Jauhaux is secretary of the labor confederation and says he has 5,000,000 followers.

Faces Certain Defeat.
Blum will take his demand for power to the senate Friday, although he knows he faces almost certain defeat.

Jauhaux declared publicly on March 31 that if the Blum government should resign "under pressure from the financial and nationalist oligarchy," his 5,000,000 followers would "set it up again by our own means."

The Blum bill scraped through the chamber 311 to 250, but the vote was the smallest on record for Blum's Front cabinet. Nearly half of the Radical Socialist membership in the lower house deserted Blum to vote with the Rightist minority or, by abstaining from voting, deprived the premier of their support.

Rightists charged the bill would "lead to establishment of a regime similar to those of Hitler and Mussolini."

Roosevelt's Experiment.
Among the criticisms hurled at it was former Premier Pierre Flandin's accusation that Blum's demand for decree powers was "a copy of President Roosevelt's experiment, which has failed."

"The American experiment must show us that the controlled economy the Premier proposes will not work," Flandin declared. The Premier's bill would give the government power until July 1 to take by decree any action deemed necessary to provide funds for the expanding national defense program, stabilize the franc and protect the national economy.

A tax on capital, a two-year suspension of payments on the national debt, a measure of foreign exchange control and revaluation of the Bank of France's gold in terms of the franc are among the measures contemplated.

2,000 Workers Quit.
The present wave of industrial strikes was accelerated by a walk-out of 2,000 construction workers in the Alpes Maritimes Department of southeastern France. They complained against what they said was failure to apply fully an arbitral award granting increased salaries.

Approximately 45,000 workers in metal and allied industries already were on strike. Paris taxi drivers tried to strike for half a day, but their demonstration appeared to be ineffective.

The franc declined slightly on the Bourse, opening at 32.53 to the dollar and closing at 32.55, as compared with yesterday's official closing of 32.28.

LAST RITES TODAY FOR DR. J. N. NORRIS

Burial Will Take Place at Oakland.

Funeral services for Dr. Jennie Newman Norris, 76, Atlanta's first woman physician, who died Tuesday morning in Grady hospital after an illness of several months, will be held at 2 o'clock this afternoon in the Capitol Avenue Baptist church, with Dr. W. H. Major and Dr. Walter M. Blackwell officiating. Burial will be in Oakland cemetery, under the direction of Henry M. Blanchard.

Born in Atlanta, Dr. Norris received her education in the public schools of the city, and was a graduate of the Grady Hospital Nurses' school. When defective sight forced her to give up plans for an artistic career, she entered the old Woman's Medical College, and graduated in 1891.

During her medical career, she was credited with delivering 3,000 babies, including 10 pair of twins. She was said to have cared for more than 150,000 cases during her 30 years of practice.

With her husband, the late Dr. W. W. Norris, she operated the Norris sanitarium on Oakland avenue.

ATLANTA, GA., APRIL 7, 1938.

THAT REORGANIZATION BILL

It is unfortunate that the congressional fight over the reorganization bill has, apparently, dropped out of the arena of intelligent, restrained debate and fallen into the mire of political emotionalism.

Both supporters and opposition have stooped to arguments and tactics unworthy either of administrative officials of a great government or of the deliberative body of a great nation. The underlying motives on both sides have become obscured by the fog of partisanship and politics to such an extent it is practically impossible for any observer to make a reasoned appraisal of the bill.

President Roosevelt himself displayed poor judgment when he described telegrams in opposition to the measure, sent to congress from all parts of the country, as an attempt to "purchase" the legislators. Calmer thought would undoubtedly have told him that citizens of a democracy have every right to make their opinions on any issue known to their congressional representatives.

That ill-judged statement has proved a boomerang by spotlighting the undeniable fact that some votes for the measure were won by administration tactics that are, undeniably, "purchase" strategy. Such strategy is used in every legislative body and everyone knows it. Promises of support for one bill are traded for support for another and it is not uncommon for governmental patronage and governmental expenditures to be used to "persuade" a hesitant member to see things the desired way.

As to the reorganization bill itself, it does not appear to be of sufficient importance to warrant all the furor either for or against it. It is not comparable, in its potential effect, to the court-packing bill so happily defeated last year. That bill struck at a basic feature of the entire American system, the independence of the supreme court. It, therefore, imperiled the entire structure of American democracy.

The reorganization bill, particularly as now amended, does not affect any vital changes in the rights or functions of any one of the three branches of government, the executive, the congressional or the judicial.

The bill attempts to achieve an objective that has been desired by all students of the Washington system for many years. That is to eliminate some of the duplication of bureaus and to increase administrative efficiency and economy. Efforts to secure these improvements through direct congressional action have failed, chiefly because of the pressure brought to bear by affected bureaus or departments and the employed personnel. This lobbying has resulted in such congressional dispute and confusion that bills looking toward greater administrative efficiency have almost always been lost.

The reorganization bill now seeks that general reform through presidential action. But the President is not, under the bill, given power to act unchecked. Every move he may make is subject to revocation by a bare majority of congress.

Foretelling any fears that later Presidents might seek to seize too great power under cloak of this measure, the bill limits its effectiveness to two years.

Congress, even though the measure is finally enacted, suffers no impairment of its law-making prerogative. The supreme court is untouched and still has to pass upon the constitutionality of any law, this one not excepted.

Some of the charges and some of the fears voiced by the opponents to the measure may have good basis. On the other hand the advantages of the bill, as explained by its proponents, may be more than sufficient to offset any disadvantages. In any event, amendments accepted by the supporters have already removed a large portion of its undesirable features.

Similar bills have been passed, with little opposition, before. One was enacted during the administration of President Hoover. The house passed a like bill, with only a handful of opposing votes, in the early months of the Roosevelt regime.

It does seem that this bill has engendered, on both sides of the debate, far too much heat and has assumed a significance altogether out of proportion to its content.

In all probability the result to the country as a whole will be comparatively negligible, whether it finally becomes law or whether it is defeated. At least, negligible in comparison to the furor it has occasioned. Unless, of course, appraisal is based upon purely political reactions.

STATES MOVE FORWARD

Relief, public welfare and low-rent housing were the objects of most of the measures enacted by state lawmakers during the first half of the 1938 legislative year throughout the nation, according to a survey just completed by the Council of State Governments. A report issued from Chicago says labor, liquor and control of state governments were other subjects which received more than usual attention.

Throughout the country the record of state legislation emphasizes a much wider interest in the problems which affect the wage earners in lower brackets, or in no brackets at all. Legislators apparently have been aroused fully to the needs of the low-wage worker and those of the men and women, hard-pinched financially or destitute, who have come to look for spectacles in every dawn.

Legislatures in the United States have set records this year, not so much in the variety of legislation, but in the time that has been devoted to, and the sincerity shown, in the task of trying to care for simple human needs.

Among outstanding accomplishments throughout the country, that of the Georgia legislature has been cited by the Council of State Governments for laws providing aid to counties, insurance for seasonal workers, reorganization of its penal system, modernization of its taxing processes to attract more capital and pay rolls to the state, and repeal of prohibition to permit county option on the sale of liquor.

But alleviation of distress, aid to business and greater efficiency in state government did not stop in the Empire State of the South. California appropriated funds to help counties pay their shares of old-age pensions and finance relief projects. Kansas set up $600,000 to aid distressed counties. Kentucky passed, subject to popular vote, a constitutional amendment to make mandatory continuous aid for aged, blind and dependent children.

In Ohio the legislature approved a poor-relief financing program of almost $17,500,000, to be raised by excise taxes on utilities, alcoholic beverages and amusements. Virginia also joined in the social security program.

California, Virginia, Ohio, Kentucky and New York adopted measures to strengthen low-rent housing programs.

In labor legislation, Virginia established a 48-hour week for women. South Carolina approved a 40-hour week for textile workers. Kentucky provided "fair minimum wages" for women and minors, and New York regulated fee-charging employment and detective agencies.

One of the highlights in the program throughout the country was the adoption by Kentucky of a law, effective in two years from now, requiring health certificates from both parties before issuance of a marriage license. New York approved a similar measure. The amount of suffering which such a law may prevent, in the lives of thousands of men, women and children, hardly can be appraised.

The Council of State Governments has done much in its survey to check, for a little while at least, the common conviction that American lawmakers do a lot of talking but little work.

THE PLACE FOR THE CYCLOPAMA

Proposal has been made in city council circles to move the Cyclopama picture of the Battle of Atlanta to a downtown location, apparently near the remodeled city auditorium. This suggestion must be approached cautiously. Too careful consideration cannot be given the matter before any irrevocable decision is made.

The suggestion for the move is made with the explanation that visitors to the city could see the painting more easily, and that receipts would be increased to $100,000 a year in that manner.

On the other hand, its location in the auditorium center would tend to lend a sideshow atmosphere to a painting which now has become a shrine memorial to the men who fought over the breastworks of the beleaguered city. Its present quiet location seems more appropriate than the downtown center, where the atmosphere of detachment now prevailing would be lost. The Cyclopama building is becoming a museum for relics of the Confederate forces in the deep south. While off the beaten path for visitors, it is not in a location difficult to reach, and the impressions reached by those from other sections of the country are those ordinarily associated with things which have become revered in memory.

The auditorium bids fair to become a great center of civic activity, and undoubtedly placing of the cyclopama there would further enhance its value. Yet many will feel that there is room for development of both the auditorium and the Cyclopama building.

Editorial of the Day

VANISHING AMERICANA

(From the Charlotte Observer.)

The elimination of the old-fashioned poorhouse, symbol of the best humanitarianism the fathers could devise on behalf of the aged and decrepit, is in process.

Whatever aspects of the social security act may otherwise be good or bad or indifferent, it must be given credit for driving one of the more common and undesirable institutions of society's past toward the limbo of the forgotten and the obsolete.

In virtually every state, poorhouse populations have been greatly depleted, as the aged, the infirm and the workless have been taken under the wings of work relief programs, unemployment compensation and various types of old-age assistance.

Drawbacks to more rapid abandonment of such institutions include lack of satisfactory hospitals for the mentally ill and for those who need medical care. Everywhere, the modern program has had to overcome the old-fashioned fixation among local politicians that the dependent aged ought to be institutionalized and do not deserve individual treatment.

THE CAPITAL PARADE

By JOSEPH ALSOP AND ROBERT KINTNER.

DYNAMITERS AT LUNCH WASHINGTON, April 6.—Germany will invade Czechoslovakia, but by a long and brutal pressure, will force the granting of autonomy to Sudeten Deutsch and reduce the diminished Czechoslovak state to an economic province. Because Germany will not invade Czechoslovakia, there will be no war in Europe, probably for a year. The date of war has now been put off until the time when Germany, already pre-eminent in Europe, pushes onward toward Hungary and Rumania.

Thus the guiding mind of the State Department foresees the future, now that the shaking dust of events since the annexation of Austria has given them time to take stock. Their opinion of the prospect was best summed up in the cynically gloomy remark of a high official:

"The dynamiters have at least stopped for lunch."

Unfortunately, the best opinion in the department is that "lunch" is about all the dynamiters have stopped for. No war is expected for the simple reason that, without an actual armed attack on the Czechoslovak border, it will be difficult for the French government to lead the rest of the world to war and all but impossible for them to persuade the British to join.

Actually, of course, Germany will get everything the most ardent Wotan-worshipping Nazi could desire, and get it without trouble, in spite of a marked weakening of the Berlin-Rome axis, and a strong possibility of rapprochement between Rome and London. Now that the jitters of the Austrian annexation period have passed, the opinion is once more that the other powers will sit placidly by while Germany takes what she wants.

MUSINGS AT BERTCHESGADEN The State Department's private prediction of the future is based, it should be pointed out, on the assumption that the musings of Adolf Hitler at Bertchesgaden will be tinged with a reasonable realism. So long as the German minority in the Czechoslovak state receives the autonomy it is clamoring for, and so long as the economic resources of Czechoslovakia are at the disposal of the devoted Dr. Schacht, there is nothing of value to be gained by German armed aggression.

On the contrary, the conquest of Czechoslovakia would mean the inclusion within the reich of the first really big minority of intensely patriotic non-Germans. It would present a permanent internal problem, and one that could hardly be solved with the simple savagery which the Nazis have applied to the Jewish problem.

Since the Austrian annexation, the Czechoslovak government has shown itself so conciliatory and so little inclined to resist Nazi pressure, that State Department authorities take autonomy for the Sudeten Deutsch and the economic subordination of Prague to Berlin as foregone conclusions.

THE SECOND-CLASS POWERS War or no war, such German triumphs as are envisaged will mean that the other nations will have to take a back seat in the situation. The German triumphs will be tinged with a reasonable realism. So long as the German minority in the Czechoslovak state receives the autonomy it is clamoring for, and so long as the economic resources of Czechoslovakia are at the disposal of the devoted Dr. Schacht, there is nothing of value to be gained by German armed aggression.

On the contrary, the conquest of Czechoslovakia would mean the inclusion within the reich of the first really big minority of intensely patriotic non-Germans. It would present a permanent internal problem, and one that could hardly be solved with the simple savagery which the Nazis have applied to the Jewish problem.

Since the Austrian annexation, the Czechoslovak government has shown itself so conciliatory and so little inclined to resist Nazi pressure, that State Department authorities take autonomy for the Sudeten Deutsch and the economic subordination of Prague to Berlin as foregone conclusions.

I Hope

He's Right.

Talking with friends of mine, on Monday last. Referred to the sudden drop in temperature we had experienced over the week end and the scantiness of my remnants of coal. Expressed hope it would warm up because I don't want to buy any more fuel this spring.

"I used to work for a large peach orchard. And the first week in April was considered the most touchy period for frost. But if we got past that week all right we felt fine. Because then we knew summer had really arrived and the frost danger was over."

People

Are Funny.

People, when they become obsessed with a "cause" or a suspicion, are frightfully funny. To appreciate this quirk in humanity you should sit, for a few months at least, in a newspaper office.

That letter from Asheville, N. C., received this week, for instance.

The writer was thrilled by the beauty of a picture in The Constitution rotogravure section on a Sunday in last September. It was of a Japanese dancer.

He wrote to this office at the time seeking to buy a photographic print. We replied, telling him the picture came from a national news photo service and we didn't have either print or negative.

Now he writes saying he has communicated with the photo service named and they reply they have not kept a duplicate of the picture in question. So, not having it, they can't supply it.

So he wants us to try again, for him, to secure it.

And he accuses all involved with a complex against pictures of Japanese dancers because of the recent events in China!

Can you beat it? Just because we can't send him what we haven't got, he infers all sorts of deep laid plots and motivations.

The Postcard

Writing Friends.

There are people who send steady streams of postcards to a newspaper office, filled with criticism of the paper, of the national administration, the state government and the city council. Apparently nothing is right, according to their ideas.

They write on these postcards stuff that could only emanate from a congenial hothead—sometimes the cards are signed and sometimes not. Their criticisms are so outrageous that they defeat the writer's purpose. If they were more restrained, more intelligent and more logical, they might hold interest.

But, no. Everything is wrong, everything is a direful conspiracy against the nation, against the wage earner, against capital, against business, against humanity and against the universe. They have no sense of proportion.

FAIR ENOUGH

By WESTBROOK PEGLER.

Robinson—Dun's Review for the month of March contained a column advertisement of a book by the Hon. Wright Patman, member of congress from Texas and author of a law whose ambiguities seem to spring from the very soil of his homeland. Mr. Patman comes from Texarkana, Texark, which has—or used to have—two city halls, one on each side of the Texas-Arkansas boundary and a federal post office balanced nicely astride it. In the terms of the too-oft definition of the Washington banquet orators, Mr. Patman's home town is a civic mugwump, with her first syllable on one side of the border and her second on the other, and his favorite law, by his admission, is a magazine for businessmen, teeters in the same manner.

"The Robinson-Patman act," the advertisement begins. "What you can and cannot do under this law, by Wright Patman, member of congress."

"This first-hand authority deals with questions arising under the act from the standpoint of those who must do business in accordance with it. Answers nearly 400 questions as to the effect of the law on specific trade practices, covering all sorts of distributing arrangements, setting of prices and discounts, fixing sales territories, location of warehouses, selection of wholesalers versus your own salesmen, etc."

"Many questions go into complex, difficult points, involving nice interpretations and consideration of the extent of the law. On the Robinson-Patman act, Mr. Patman gives his opinion on how to operate legally and advantageously under the act's provisions."

What Is It "Twenty-six chapters cover the purpose of the act, when price discriminations are lawful, price discrimination to meet competition," who are in competition, cash discounts and terms of sale, advertising, other forms of promotional allowance, exemption as to perishables, obsolescence, selection of customers."

"Much more wordage is required to describe a book selling at $4.50 which is required to explain a law by which men and companies endeavoring to sell a pair of overalls or a package of prunes are required to do or refrain from doing certain things under various penalties, including imprisonment, possibly, at the discretion of the director of prisons, in Alcatraz."

Working Both No longer ago than last June Mr. Roosevelt passed some rather harsh remarks about citizens who operate within the provisions of the income tax law, but advantageously. He took the position that it was immoral and unethical to operate advantageously, and here now is Mr. Patman counseling the citizens, at $4.50 per copy, to take advantage of his law according to his interpretation.

Nobody can sue a statesman for framing a law which is so complex and obscure that an innocent man may be had up for criminal violation. Neither can anyone sue him as author for an unreliable interpretation if that version be repudiated by a majority of the nine old men.

Naturally I have not read the Robinson-Patman act, but in view of Mr. Patman's venture into the field of commercial literature I am curious regarding one specific question. In that section of his law governing the book trade Mr. Patman makes it a criminal offense for anyone having bought a $4.50 book to lend that book to another person doing the deserving author out of his royalty of 67 1/2 cents?

GOOD MORNING

By LOUIS D. NEWTON

JAPAN. Dr. Harvey Clarke, for 40 years a distinguished missionary of the Southern Baptist Convention in Japan, was sitting in the backyard with me one morning, blended enjoying the many birds, the early spring flowers, the waving patch of rice and wheat, and best of all for me was the fellowship of this scholarly Christian gentleman who has lived so long and so well.

"Several things in your garden make me think of Japan," he remarked. "For example, that wisteria. They grow the finest wisteria in Japan I have ever seen. The soil and climate seem to suit wisteria, and then they cultivate everything in the finest possible degree. And these lilacs remind me of Japan. We find them in the finest sort in the woodland. They thrive in that moist atmosphere and the surprisingly rich soil. It is wonderful to see the children with arms full of these gorgeous flowers at the lily fairs. And your little rustic bridge over the pools would seem to have been fashioned in Japan," he continued.

And after my honored guest had gone I thought about what he had said of the flowers in Japan, of the lovely children, the courteous people, and all that, and I kept wondering how any of us can ever reconcile war with all its train of miseries with the fine qualities of civilization so well established in the hearts of people like the Japanese and other nations now bitterly engaged in the business of destroying one another.

Someone will be certain to write me and say that war is inevitable—that the only way to get worse, and all that sort of stuff. I don't believe it. Surely there is a way—the right way—by which all these problems can be met and permanently solved. For my own part I believe with all my heart that Jesus was talking about life here and now when He taught us to pray, "Thy kingdom come, Thy will be done on earth as it is done in heaven," and I believe His kingdom will come when we yield our wills to His blessed will—when we repent of our sin and trust Him as Saviour and Lord.

A Big Salary Isn't Enough If the Family of the Boss Snubs You

By ROBERT QUILLLEN.

Some years ago a shocked and incredulous world read that a young man had shot and killed his wife because she failed to wash the supper dishes.

He had spoken to her about it more than once—pleasantly, at first, then irritably; and at last with grim purpose.

Then one evening he walked through the kitchen; saw the sink filled with unwashed dishes, and went raving mad.

A paranoiac, the psychiatrist would say. Yet such little things, which seem ridiculously trivial to those who are not concerned, cause more grief and strife than the problems and troubles that are considered important.

Nearly all labor trouble, except the kind deliberately cultivated by agitators, is caused by unimportant personal grievances. Men have struck, of their own accord, for shorter hours or better wages, but in most instances the cause of conflict is as small and intimate as a tack in a shoe.

In the old days the boss dealt directly with his employees. If they felt wronged, they could tell him so to his face—or act unfriendly till he saw that something was wrong.

But now the worker sees no authority except a foreman, and that limited personal contact makes the foreman the arbiter of his fate. Without the knowledge of those higher up, the foreman can make life miserable for every man on the job and thus fill a factory with "dangerous radicals."

If the workers unanimously declare the foreman a "swell guy," only the gravest injustice can persuade them to strike. If the foreman is by nature and practice a two-by-four son-of-a-bum, any agitator can prevail upon them to strike for old-age pensions, insurance, a share in management or anything else.

For they will be seething with sullen rage because of petty tyrannies and injustices and abuses and indignities, and they will gladly strike a blow at "capital" because they hate its poisonous agent.

Industry, politics, social organization and life itself become ever more complicated, and therefore more remote and impersonal; but we still make contact with somebody, and the person we deal with is the one who makes the system good or bad.

You can be cheerful in a bombed-out city if those about you are fine, unselfish, gallant and friendly; but a miserable and free meals would make life bitter and hateful if all those served you treated you like dirt.

THIS MORNING

By JOHN TEMPLE GRAVES II.

"The laborer is worthy of his hire."

"It seems to me that most people who discuss wages in the south do not know the facts and they don't want to know them," President Fitzgerald Hall, of the Southern States Industrial Council, writes this column. He points out, too, (and we agree with him), that the south "inherited rather than created many of the difficult problems growing out of labor."

A memorandum just issued by Executive Vice President Prentiss M. Terry, of the council, reports that average southern wages (skilled and unskilled) in manufacturing establishments have increased 51 per cent since 1933 while the average for the country as a whole has increased only 43 per cent. The average for common labor, furthermore, has increased 50 per cent as against only 45.8 per cent for the country as a whole.

In the same mail comes a letter from Scott Roberts, chairman of the Alabama Cotton Manufacturers' Association, suggesting that President Roosevelt should at least have made an exception of the textile industry in speaking of low wages in the south "because it was the first industry to embrace the NRA and made by far the greatest advance in wages, which has been maintained to this good day with minor exceptions."

Mr. Roberts quotes "a mutual friend" that "since 1933 the average wage rate in textile mills in the south has doubled, advancing from an average of about 20 cents per hour to an average of over 40 cents an hour. He (the President) failed to call attention to the fact that there is a continuing overflowing supply of labor from our cotton fields where people are working for less than a dollar a day from sunup to sundown. . . . I do not defend it but northern industry developed on wages lower than are being paid in the south."

The more we learn of the south's labor problems, the more sure we are that the south itself must settle it, and that in the settlement there may come a new form of labor relationship as this region's contribution to the country. Since Mr. Hall and Mr. Roberts are both at pains to report increases in wages which have taken place in the south since 1933, they obviously consider increased wages worth while, so long as the increase does not impair the operation which pays the wages. They know, as sensible men, that increased southern wages mean increased southern purchasing power, that they mean the southern markets to which southern and all other industry must look for a needed new demand.

Granting, as all of us do, that it is to the advantage of everybody in the south that the highest possible wage be paid, and granting also, as all of us must, that it is not practical to trust to the employer's benevolence for this higher wage, to what force must we look for such a wage? Neither the national government nor the national unions will properly consider the south's special circumstances. That is why our own answer is, a southern labor organization, one that can bargain collectively with southern employers but, at the same time, stand with southern employers against national or other forces that would destroy the operation that pays the wage here.

WORLD'S WINDOW

By PIERRE VAN PAASSEN.

Disrupt America. NEW YORK.—The other day, according to the New York Times, 52 of the foremost and expert magazine editors of different American newspapers were invited to Washington for a conference at the Mayflower hotel. In that hostelry they were informed that the German-American Bund intends shortly to set up a chain of newspapers, 11 to start with, in the principal cities. The editors were invited to assume the direction of business in these newspapers and they were promised, in case of acceptance a salary double of what they were receiving today.

The object was, it was stated, according to the same dispatch to the New York Times and the Philadelphia Inquirer to get the leading public away from the Jew press. What was meant by the Jew press, I do not know exactly, except that certain newspapers, the Times of New York included, are owned by Jews. To call the Times a Jew paper, though, is going a bit far. It is the most objective and fair-minded paper in the world, the pride of the American journalism.

But let that be. What is the object of the Bund's move? No one will deny that our newspapers on the whole are excellent, that they allow alien propaganda to be presented impartially and with consideration for both sides in any given dispute. The foreign news service is either supplied by the Associated Press or the United Press, two organizations without any axe to grind, both of them solely occupied in supplying American public opinion with information, facts and events.

Yet the inference to be drawn from the conference in Washington was that another news-gathering organization would be set up, too, to counteract propaganda coming from abroad. These 52 men in Washington were asked to accept handsome remunerations for just that kind of thing. They were asked to become propagandists, that is to say, something that is absolutely alien to the American newspaperman's tradition. And more than 40 simply walked out of the conference in Washington when they learned of the proposition.

What can be the object of an organization whose orientations, as the Bund's unquestionably are, in the direction of a foreign country and its policies and philosophy, in wishing to set up a chain of newspapers?

A seemingly harmless way. We'll pay dearly for it in the end, if under the guise of tolerance, we allow alien propaganda to work unchecked in our midst.

OFF THE RECORD—By Ed Reed

"BIB-ANN-TUCKER" THE THREE BARS

Roosevelt: The AAA President Tells of Efforts To Bring Farm Income on a Parity With Urban Earnings, of Melting Surpluses.

ARTICLE NO. 14.

President Roosevelt—on the A. A. A. (II). (EDITOR'S NOTE—The plight of the farmer in 1933 and the drafting of emergency legislation for farm relief were narrated yesterday. In the following note, never before published, from President Roosevelt's forthcoming books, the nature and workings of this first A. A. A. are described in his own words.)

Title I of the statute of May 12, 1933, to rescue agriculture had to do with farm crop adjustment and the raising of agricultural purchasing power, and is known as the "agricultural adjustment act." Title II dealt with easing the farm mortgage burden of farmers, and is known as the "emergency farm mortgage act of 1933."

The policy of Title I of the act was to establish and maintain such balance between the production and consumption of farm commodities, and such marketing conditions therefor, as would re-establish prices to farmers at a level that would give agricultural commodities a purchasing power, with respect to articles that they buy, equal to the purchasing power of all agricultural commodities in the "base period."

"Base Period" Fixed. The "base period" in the case of all agricultural commodities except tobacco was fixed as the pre-war period, August, 1909-July, 1914. In the case of tobacco the base period was fixed as the post-war period, August, 1919-July, 1929. The tobacco-consuming habits of the entire world had so changed since the war that the pre-war conditions of production and demand no longer represented accurately the 1933 conditions of the tobacco industry.

This policy did not mean that farm prices should be raised to the same level necessarily in dollars as they were before the war, but rather that a farmer selling a certain volume of farm products in 1933 should be able, with the price he received for them, to buy the same volume of manufactured goods that he was able to buy in the period 1909-1914.

The aim was to place the farmer on the same comparable economic level with business and industry as existed during the pre-war period, to return to him his normal fair share of the national income, and, incidentally, to make him as good a customer for non-agricultural business as he was before the war.

Sudden Adjustment Avoided. The act also declared the policy of approaching such equality of purchasing power by a gradual rather than a precipitous correction of the existing inequalities, with due regard to current demand for consumption in domestic and foreign markets.

It was clear that no parity could be brought about in many of the commodities whose carry-over stocks were several times normal, until the huge surpluses had been reduced or eliminated. It was also evident that if the price of certain farm products were to be pushed up suddenly without adequate control of production, the result would only be to bring in new and additional production which would create further burdensome surpluses.

A precipitous increase of price might even cause reduced consumption of farm commodities to a degree which would result in more harm than good to the farmers.

The act further declared the policy of protecting consumers' interests, by readjusting farm production to such a level that the percentage of consumers' retail expenditures received by the farmer would not be above the percentage he received in the pre-war period. In this way the act sought to maintain for the consumer also the same proportionate price relationships as existed before the war.

In order to effectuate these various policies and purposes, the congress granted two principal groups of powers to the secretary of agriculture: One dealing with voluntary production adjustment through contracts and benefit payments to farmers, and the other dealing with marketing agreements and licenses.

The first group of powers, enabled the United States government to help farmers adjust their production in a way which would have been impossible for them acting as individuals without government assistance. The secretary of agriculture, functioning through the Agricultural Adjustment Administration, was authorized to give financial assistance by means of rental and benefit payments, by agreement or by any other voluntary method to those farmers who would consent to adjust the amount of their crops.

The methods to be used were to be voluntary and not otherwise. Only the farmers who agreed voluntarily to adjust their production would receive the benefit payments. In this way the non-co-operative farmer, who had always been the obstacle to attempts by farmers in the past to control the amount of their total crops, was prevented from obtaining any advantage from refusing to co-operate.

Seven Basic Commodities. The act originally provided for benefit payments for only seven basic agricultural commodities: Wheat, cotton, corn, hogs, rice, tobacco and milk in its products. These products were selected because the United States produced an exportable surplus of nearly all of them, and also because changes in their price strongly influence all commodities.

Another reason for choosing these products was that each of them goes through some form of manufacturing process before it is ready for human consumption, with the result that their production and distribution could be more easily regulated during the course of processing than could those products which do not go through such a process.

(Editor's Note—Nine other basic commodities were added later by amendments to the AAA—cattle, sugar beets and cane, peanuts, rye, flax,

PROGRAM DETAILS COMING TOMORROW

In a third and final article on the AAA President Roosevelt tomorrow describes its operation and discusses the legal battle which led up to the supreme court's decision in the Hoosac Mills case.

Five forthcoming books by the President, "The Public Papers and Addresses of Franklin D. Roosevelt," contain the notes and comments which make up this series of articles.

The President details how the agricultural program was made self-supporting, the scope and effects of its administrative organization, and the efforts made to fit the AAA to the constitutional pattern indicated by the supreme court.

barley, grain sorghums, and potatoes.)

The second group of powers enumerated in the agricultural adjustment act, permitting the secretary of agriculture to enter into marketing agreements with processors, farmers' associations and others engaged in the handling of farm products, was also directed toward giving the farmer a more equal share of the national income. Marketing agreements were permitted for all agricultural products, and not merely for the seven basic ones; and the agreements were exempted from the provisions of the anti-trust laws of the United States.

They were intended not only to bring about a better price for the farmer but to assist the various branches of the farming industry in general to increase their efficiency in production, processing and marketing, so that better prices for the farmer would mean only a relatively small increase of cost to the consumer.

Licenses and Taxes.

To make effective the terms of marketing agreements, the act authorized the secretary of agriculture to grant licenses to processors and distributors and others handling agricultural products or any competing commodities, and to revoke such licenses in the event of violation of the terms of the licenses.

In order to obtain the funds to pay benefits to the farmers who co-operated in adjusting the size of their crops, the act provided for processing taxes to be levied upon the first domestic processing of the product.

The rate of the processing tax was to be fixed by the secretary of agriculture at the difference between the current average farm price for the particular commodity and the fair exchange value of the commodity. To prevent the tax being so high, however, as to cause reduced consumption of the commodity which would bring further surpluses, the secretary was given discretion, after investigation and an opportunity for hearing, to fix the tax at a lower rate.

Co-operating Majority.

With the funds derived from the tax, benefit payments could be made by the government to farmers who were willing to co-operate in the program of adjusting production. In this way they received benefit payments plus the increased market price while the non-co-operators received only the increased market price.

The machinery of government was used to assist farmers who could not individually assist themselves. The act sought to prevent the small non-co-operating minority from doing any harm to the co-operating majority.

The benefit payments made a direct and continuing contribution to the farmers' income. It was a recognition of the principle that this large economic group, performing an essential function for society, is entitled to a fair share in the national income.

With respect to cotton, special steps were taken because the 1933 crop had already been planted and special emergency measures were necessary. With respect to the other basic commodities, plans were also adopted as quickly as possible by the secretary of agriculture after conference with farm leaders and others, to carry out the purposes of the act.

The various plans differed in detail, but the essentials were the same, viz., (1) a voluntary agreement on the part of the farmer to adjust his production in accordance with individual allotments, (2) payment of benefits by the government to those who signed such agreements, (3) the levying of a tax on the first processing of the particular products to raise funds for the payment of these benefits, (4) decentralization of administration, (5) determination of the amounts to be allotted to each county, locality, or individual farmer to be made in co-operation with local county or district production control associations and local allotment committees.

TVA PROBE GROUP HITS NEW OBSTACLE

Senator Capper Says He Will Not Have Time To Serve.

WASHINGTON, April 6.—(AP)—Efforts to set up a congressional committee to investigate the Tennessee Valley Authority hit a new snag late today when Senator Capper, of Kansas, said he did not think he would be able to serve as a Republican member.

Vice President Garner had appointed Capper, along with Senator Frazier, of North Dakota, to the committee to fill vacancies caused by the refusal of Senators Borah, of Idaho, and McNary, of Oregon, both Republicans, to serve. Capper told reporters he did not think he would have the time to accept.

"It would require a lot of time," he said, "and I am loaded down with work now."

Frazier also told newsmen he had not decided whether he would serve.

There have been numerous reports that Republicans generally would decline to serve on the committee unless Senator Bridges, Republican, New Hampshire, is named.

Informed persons predicted, however, Frazier would accept the appointment and that Senator Davis, Republican, Pennsylvania, would be named in place of Capper.

Garner told reporters he would give Republicans "every chance" to have two members on the committee.

MITCHELL DENIES TAX RETURN FRAUD

Atlanta Reveals Discovery of 'Errors' in Stock Sale Computations.

WASHINGTON, April 6.—(AP)—William E. Mitchell, of Atlanta, denied today any fraudulent intent in income tax returns which the government charges showed a tax deficiency of $80,000 from 1925 to 1930.

Mitchell, general manager of the Georgia Power Company, testifying at a hearing before the board of tax appeals, told of selling stocks from the highest invoice and recording differences between prices paid and amounts brought for income tax purposes.

Mitchell said he since had learned errors were made in the theory of sale, but insisted the errors were innocent of fraudulent intent.

He testified also errors in computing other sales of stock saying: "We admit it was done erroneously, but not fraudulently."

Two employes previously had testified that in preparing income tax returns for Mitchell they had made errors in their computations.

Question Box On the Bible

By W. L. PETTINGILL, ABRAHAM AND LOT.

Was Lot a Saved Person?

Yes, in 2 Peter 2:7, Lot is spoken of twice as a "just" or "righteous" man, which means that he was justified by faith. The difference between Lot and Abraham was that Lot was not a separated man, while Abraham was.

And it is to be noted that when Lot got into trouble on account of mixing with the world it was Abraham the separated man who had power to help. Compare Gen. 13:18; 14:1-16; 19:29. And it is so today, power is with the man who is not only saved but who walks in a path of separation with God and from the world (2 Tim. 2:20, 21). When the choice was presented to Lot he "chose him all the plain of Jordan," looking only to the present advantage. Abraham, on the other hand, "looked for a city which hath foundations" (Heb. 11:10), and "came and dwelt in the plain of Mamre, which is in Hebron" (Gen. 13:18). Mamre is a word which means "fatness." Hebron means "community." Thus it is seen that these men are types, Lot of the worldly Christian, and Abraham of the spiritual Christian.

COURTHOUSE PLANS REVISED BY TROUP

Cost Reduced and New Site for Projected Building Is Selected.

LAGRANGE, Ga., April 6.—Troup county's new courthouse will be a $150,000 structure located at Ridley and Haralson streets, instead of a $212,000 structure constructed on the court square, Judson J. Milam Sr., chairman of the county board of commissioners of roads and revenues, disclosed yesterday.

Site and construction of the courthouse have been the subject of much contention since burning of the old building November 5, 1936. Decision to build on a new site resulted when commissioners voted for the third time on the matter.

Advocates of the change, principally progressives who feel the town should grow away from the old square scheme, point to the fact the new site is just across the street from city hall. Plans for the proposed $212,000 building have been thrown out, and new plans are being drawn for a two-story structure. Letting of the contract will take place about July 1, Mr. Milam said. The old site on the court square will be offered for public sale May 3, commissioners agreed.

PERTINAX DECLARES ITALO-BRITISH TALKS NOT CRYSTALLIZED

Commentator Weighs Various Factors Influencing Negotiations.

By PERTINAX.

(Copyright, 1938, for The Constitution and North American Newspaper Alliance, Inc.)

PARIS, April 6.—(By Wire)—The Anglo-Italian agreement, now being given its final touches, will become operative at a date which both signatories reserve to themselves the right to select.

The British government is willing that the agreement be put into force once Italy has not only adhered to the plan discussed by the London committee for the withdrawal of Spanish volunteers, but has performed her obligations under that plan. The Fascist government will do the same after de jure recognition of its Ethiopian conquest has been obtained from Great Britain. Therefore, for the present, all clauses in the contemplated Anglo-Italian agreement will remain in suspense. Nothing has finally crystallized as yet.

Lately, the French cabinet has raised a new issue through its ambassador to London. It insists that, when foreigners fighting in Spain are recalled, due account must be taken of the categories to which they belong and that withdrawal should not be arranged to take place merely upon a numerical basis.

Dangerous and Unfair.
For instance, the French ministry of foreign affairs would regard as unfair and dangerous to French and British interests that the German and Italian governments should be able to repatriate their so-called volunteers and leave behind in Spanish territory their "technicians," that is, air-men, engineers and sailors serving aboard submarines, under the pretext that foreigners found on the government side are all too few to be regarded as a fair offset.

The French and British governments now find the foregoing plan more and more favorable to their interests, as, were it to succeed, they would get for practically nothing the elimination of Franco's German and Italian auxiliaries. Moreover, both regard it as a real boon that the international commissions that would be sent to Spain would be in a position to ward off the murderous reprisals which unfortunately bid fair to become more and more the rule and interpose themselves between all contending factions.

Return to Spanish Morocco of the native troops which play such a great part in the civil war is a special cause of anxiety for the French. They want to make sure those troops will not take back with them German and Italian war material, and, therefore, claim that the Moorish regiments ought to be placed under some kind of international supervision. All such points will have to be elucidated carefully and settled.

Nuisance Value.
The question is whether Italy will accept on her part, with the great opportunity available to her to make the most of her quiescent value in the western Mediterranean as against de jure recognition by England and France of her eastern African empire. However, the advantage that would accrue to the Rome government from a definite and formal abandonment of the Ethiopian cause by the western powers must not be undervalued.

All independent observers who recently visited that land paint a gloomy picture of the state of affairs that obtains there. Enough to indicate this is the fact that Marshal Graziani, when he was recalled from his post of governor-general, left the country on January 9 in practically the same way as the emperor did nearly two years earlier.

No military function of any kind attended his departure. He was to leave Addis Ababa in the special train the management of the French railway had ordered for him. He chose to go in his motor car, preceded and followed by two armored cars, and escorted by two airplanes which flew 300 and 400 meters, respectively, above him. He only boarded the train at a distance of 200 kilometers from the capital and before entering the local station sent word that all officers and soldiers who were having their meals there should not move and salute him.

Rivers Fetes Physician Who Treated Him on Coast

Governor Rivers introduces Dr. J. J. Singer (left), distinguished Los Angeles physician and professor of clinical surgery at Washington University, St. Louis, to Dr. Thomas F. Abercrombie (right), director of the State Department of Public Health, at a reception given by the Governor in Dr. Singer's honor yesterday afternoon at the Capital City Club. Dr. Singer is credited with saving the Governor's life early last summer, when the chief executive was taken ill on a California vacation.

Hemingway Discovers Remnants Of Lincoln-Washington Battalion

Survivors Tell Thrilling Story of Break Through Fascist Lines When Surrounded; Three Strip and Swim Into Ebro.

Thrilling adventures of members of the Lincoln-Washington battalion of the Spanish government's International Brigade, which took part in some of the heaviest of the recent fighting in the Spanish civil war, are disclosed here by the famous American author of "Death in the Afternoon," "Farewell to Arms," "To Have and Have Not," who recently returned to the war front.

By ERNEST HEMINGWAY.

(Copyright, 1938, for The Constitution and North American Newspaper Alliance, Inc.)

BARCELONA, April 6.—(By Wire)—For two days, this correspondent has been doing the most dangerous thing you can do in this war. That is, keep close behind an unbalanced line where the enemy is attacking with mechanized forces. It's the most dangerous because the first thing you see is the tanks, and the tanks don't take prisoners; they don't give orders to halt, and they use incendiary bullets on your car. And the only way you know they're there is when you see them.

We had been checking the front and trying to locate the Lincoln-Washington battalion, from which no word had been heard since Gaudes was captured. The last time they had been seen, they were holding out on top of a hill outside Gaudes. On their right, the British battalion of the same brigade was holding up the Fascist advance, and, after darkness came and both battalions had been surrounded, nobody had heard anything from the Lincoln-Washington outfit.

Swim for Lives.
There were 450 men when they stood up and fought. We found eight of them and learned that probably 150 more had cut their way through. These men came through the Fascist lines to the east and south and others may have got through toward the northeast. Three of the eight, John Gates, Joseph Hecht and George Watts, had swum the Ebro river opposite Miravet. When we saw them at noon they were barefoot and had just been given clothes. They had been naked since they had crossed the river at daylight. The Ebro, they said, was a fast-flowing, very cold river, and six others who had tried to swim it, four of whom were wounded, drowned.

Standing in the dusty brush beside a very nervous-looking man, already well up behind the Fascist advance down the Ebro, we listened to the story of their break through the line. The battalion had been surrounded. Of their stand before Gaudes, with the mechanized columns and tanks already past them. Of the wild night when the battalion was split into two parts, one going south, one east, and from the scout officer who led one group which included the

CALIFORNIA DOCTOR HONORED BY RIVERS

Governor Gives Reception for Man Who Saved His Life on Coast.

Governor Rivers gave a reception yesterday afternoon to Dr. J. J. Singer, the physician credited with saving the Governor's life when he was taken dangerously ill on his California vacation early last summer.

Dr. Singer, now of Los Angeles, was in that city on a vacation when Governor Rivers was stricken. Attending physicians, who were about to operate for gall bladder trouble, called in Dr. Singer, who found the Governor was suffering from an accumulation of pus in one lung. He ordered the lung drained, and the Governor recovered rapidly.

"I don't believe I ever would have returned to Georgia alive if it hadn't been for the kindness of Dr. Singer," the Governor said. Dr. Singer remarked that when he heard the Governor was a Democrat, he "couldn't do enough for him."

"A Republican Governor would have died anyhow," he said. The reception, held at the Capital City Club, assembled a group of men influential in the life of the city and state.

Dr. Singer, professor of clinical surgery at Washington University, St. Louis, is in town for the convention of the American Association of Thoracic Surgery. He praised Governor Rivers for increasing the appropriation of the department of public health.

TEAR GAS ENDS ROW

Workers Clash at Closed Sugar Refinery.

CROCKETT, Cal., April 6.—(UP)—Inflamed union members fought fiercely outside the closed California-Hawaiian Sugar Refinery here tonight as a result of a jurisdictional dispute between the American Federation of Labor and the Committee for Industrial Organization.

At least seven persons were injured seriously and taken to hospitals. Fifty others received minor injuries. AFL sympathizers smashed a CIO picket line around the refinery to touch off the fighting. The battle stopped only after tear gas bombs were fired by department sheriffs. State highway patrolmen helped local peace officers scatter the combatants.

push brought the fiercest fighting since Franco's forces started their march to the sea March 9. Insurgents sent new motorized divisions from Gaudes and Alcaniz. From the Madrid and Catalan fronts the government rushed artillery batteries to aid Tortosa's defenders.

Insurgent artillery hurled shells into the narrow, winding cobblestone streets of Tortosa itself and along the coastal highway running south from Barcelona to the rest of government Spain.

This bombardment effectively cut communications between Catalonia, Spain's northeastern corner, and remaining government territory to the south and west.

Franco's legionnaires were fighting to gain control of the coastal highway and use it for a rapid sweep 95 miles northeast to Barcelona, government capital, or to Valencia, Mediterranean stronghold to the south.

To the northwest, mechanized columns sped north from Lerida, conquered western gateway to Barcelona, through the Segre river valley to attack the seat of Catalonia's power supply, the great hydroelectric plant at Tremp. Some units of the huge installation, 45 miles north of Lerida, were believed to have been damaged by air attacks.

LOYALISTS LAUNCH SURPRISE OFFENSIVE

MADRID, April 6.—(AP)—Spanish government troops, maneuvering to relieve pressure on Catalonia, today launched a surprise offensive on the central front which carried them well up toward the Badajoz highway about 100 miles southwest of Madrid.

It was along this highway that the insurgents advanced in the early days of the war to the relief of the besieged Alcazar and the attack on Madrid.

A government communique said government forces, advancing from the south, had captured La Calera and had surrounded the towns of Villar del Pedroso and Carrascalejo. It also reported the city of Fuentes del Arzobispo, 30 miles southwest of Talavera de la Reina, was being abandoned by the insurgents.

These developments came as the reorganized cabinet granted Premier Juan Negrin full power to act with greatest speed and severity against all anti-government factions and activity.

OFFICIALS' RELATIVES GO TO FRANCE

PERPIGNAN, France (At the Spanish Border), April 6.—(AP)—Senora Companys, wife of the president of the Catalonia (autonomous) government, with her young son arrived at Perpignan tonight from Barcelona, toward which insurgent armies are advancing. Relatives of other Spanish government leaders also reached Perpignan.

BRITAIN URGED TO LIFT SPANISH ARMS BAN

LONDON, April 6.—(AP)—A deputation from the General Council of Trades Unions Congress called on Foreign Secretary Viscount Halifax today to urge lifting of Britain's ban on shipment of arms to the Spanish government.

Lord Halifax reiterated to the delegation, which represented more than 3,000,000 British workers, that Britain was maintaining a "hands off" policy.

WOMEN'S CLUBS JOIN SOCIAL DISEASE WAR

Pointing out a need for "additional clinics over the city and a waiting room at the social disease hospital," the fifth district Georgia Federation of Women's Clubs has pledged "full support" to the nation-wide fight against social diseases, it was announced yesterday.

The resolution, adopted after a meeting recently, charges "facilities for treatment of these diseases in Fulton county are inadequate." Plans for calling to attention of public health officials in Fulton need for additional facilities were outlined in the resolution.

Students Get 'Up in the Air' About Geography

These modern youngsters refused to accept the written word of a geography book. They insisted on an airplane ride to see for themselves what the topography of their native Georgia looked like. Above are two students of the Washington Seminary geography class with Pilot Jerry Alcott in the plane which took them aloft yesterday. From left to right are Alcott, Ann McPhail and Eleanor Will. From looks of things the girls are as interested in learning about the airplane instruments as the topography of the land.

CROPS ADVANCED IN FACE OF RAINS

Higher Temperatures Forecast Today for Atlanta Area.

Georgia crops were described by the weather bureau yesterday as "well advanced" and temperatures were running two and three degrees above normal while snow and ice formed in north central states.

Atlanta will get more rain and slightly higher temperatures today. More than 2.18 inches of rain fell in Atlanta within 18 hours yesterday. No cold wave is in sight. A storm area in the midwest was blamed for the rainfall which was almost continuous yesterday but typical "springlike conditions" are expected to continue in this section.

The temperature range yesterday was between 53 and 60. The minimum this morning is expected to be about 53 degrees followed by a maximum in the low 70's later in the day.

In south Georgia, cotton and sugar cane planting is well under way and a good start has been made on peanuts, while wheat and oats have headed out, the bureau said.

Progress of the grains was attributed to unusual warmth of the past two months. Heavy rains in the northern section have delayed planting, but in southeastern Georgia extreme dry weather has hindered sweet potato seed beds.

MEXICO WILL PAY FOR U. S. OIL SEIZURE

Rickett and Smith were near an agreement with the Mexican government for purchase of some of the oil which has been collecting in storage tanks since President Cardenas issued his expropriation decree.

The government press department disclosed that the president himself had ordered the government company formed to handle export oil sales to deposit 20 percent of receipts in the National Bank of Labor Credit.

The deposits would "constitute a fund for indemnification and payment for the expropriated properties," the press department said. Payments to the companies, it added, would start "as soon as agreements are reached with the interested companies fixing the amount to be paid." It was said the finance ministry later would fix the percentage of domestic sales to be devoted to the same purpose.

Peso Climbs.
The peso climbed sharply during the day, closing at 4.00 and 4.10 to the dollar in comparison with yesterday's close of 4.25 to 4.30.

Some bankers credited the peso's rise to reports that Rickett and Smith has brought from $5,000,000 to $10,000,000 to Mexico as a guarantee for an expected oil purchase contract.

Government sources asserted Mexico had received more than 50 offers to buy oil since the expropriation, but that none of the offers had been accepted yet.

ATU Men Raid 101 Stills Worth $12,307 in Month

Getting ready to give the visiting sharpshooters a real mark to shoot at, agents of the Atlanta offices of the Alcohol Tax Unit accounted for 101 moonshine liquor stills last month.

The March report, made public yesterday, left Alabama ahead in the southeastern district with 111 seizures, but put Georgia on top in the value of the plants destroyed.

The value of the Georgia seizures was estimated at $12,307, and Alabama's at $6,256. Total of Florida seizures was 61 and the South Carolina total was 64.

High officials of the department said here Tuesday that about 40 expert marksmen have been transferred from California and the west coast to the south as a part of a nation-wide drive on illicit distillers.

SHANGHAI COLLEGE PRESIDENT IS SLAIN

Head of Baptist Institution Assassinated as He Walks With Wife.

SHANGHAI, April 7 (Thursday).—(AP)—Dr. Herman Liu, president of the American-supported Shanghai College, was shot to death today by unidentified gunmen as he walked along an International Settlement street with his wife.

Settlement police immediately arrested a Chinese who told them he was "hired to kill Liu because he was a traitor to China."

A second alleged participant escaped after shooting a British policeman in the leg.

Friends of the Baptist College president, who was a graduate of the University of Chicago and Columbia University, had feared for his safety because of his Chinese patriotic activities in backing the war against Japan. After several recent political assassinations they had suggested he move to Hongkong or Hankow, but he refused.

The killing was believed to have been inspired by anti-Chinese elements. Liu had received many threatening letters, and only recently arsenic was found in a basket of fruit he received ostensibly from a foreign friend who had been dead several years.

The slaying occurred in the heart of Shanghai's foreign area. Liu was one of China's leading educators. He had been president of the college since 1930.

BRITISH POLL TEST OPPOSES CABINET

Labor Candidate Wins in Previously Pro-Conservative District.

LONDON, April 6.—(AP)—A Labor party candidate today won a house of commons seat in the first by-election to test British public opinion since Anthony Eden quit as foreign minister in protest against Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain's foreign policy.

Dr. Edith Summerskill defeated the Conservative candidate, C. J. Busby, by a majority of 1,421 votes in the previously conservative constituency of West Fulham, in London.

The woman Socialist polled 16,583 votes to Busby's 15,162. She immediately announced an ultimatum to Chamberlain to go "back to the League of Nations or get out."

Conservatives had fought the election campaign on the issue of the government's foreign policy of seeking agreements with Europe's dictators, the issue over which Eden resigned.

The West Fulham district in the 1935 general election gave Conservative Sir Cyril Cobb, who since has died, a majority of 3,483. Amidst labor rejoicing, Dr. Summerskill declared "I won because 'they remember with alarm that the very moment the national government was asking the nation to have trust in their negotiations with Mussolini he was boasting about his troops invading Spain.'"

"This election has been fought on labor's demand that peaceful nations must become a chain so strong that the bullies of Europe dare not risk further aggression." Chamberlain entered the Fulham campaign by writing a letter to Busby.

Symbol of Relief Hurts Pedestrian

Symbol of ease from pain, a Red Cross flag, went into reverse yesterday and injured a pedestrian.

W. L. Payne, of 25 Georgia avenue, S. E., was struck on the head when the bullies of Europe dare not risk further aggression. Chamberlain entered the Fulham campaign by writing a letter to Busby.

Payne was treated at Grady hospital, suffering a bruise.

NAZI READER RANKS JEWS AS KILLERS

Julius Streicher Issues First Book.

BERLIN, April 6.—(AP)—Julius Streicher, Germany's No. 1 anti-Semite, today issued his "first reader" which he said in his newspaper, Der Stuermer, was intended to instruct Germans in the Jewish question by pictures and stories easy to understand.

In a story called "What Christ Said About the Jews" the reader gives this admonition: "Remember that the Jews are children of the devil and murderers of mankind... whoever is a murderer deserves to be killed himself."

The book, picking up where Streicher's anti-Semitic "primer" left off, contains 17 stories with such titles as "What Happened to Inge at the Jewish Doctor's" and "How a Jew Treats His Female Servants."

Rivers To Seek Re-election, Source Close to Him Says

Governor Is Held To Be Determined To Complete His "New Deal" Program for Georgia and Not Enter Race Against George.

By the Associated Press.
The word circulated in political quarters yesterday that in all probability, Governor Rivers would offer for re-election and leave the race for United States senator to incumbent Walter F. George and others who might want George's job.

A source close to the Governor ventured the prediction that the odds were "about 1,000 to 1 that Rivers would not enter the senate race."

To Complete Program.
This source, who declined to be quoted by name, said Rivers was intent on completing his "New Deal" program for Georgia and had made no plans for a senate campaign.

In other quarters, some persisted in the belief that Rivers would run for senator, however.
The Governor himself said recently he was not campaigning for any office "at this time" and yesterday he said he had nothing to add to that statement.

Hamilton Blasted.
Ex-Governor Talmadge has been mentioned repeatedly for the senate race and recently has been criticizing Senator George's activities.
Talmadge came out in his newspaper, the Statesman, yesterday with a blast at State Treasurer George Hamilton, and a word of praise for Zack Cravey, of McRae, who has announced for treasurer against Hamilton.

It was Talmadge's first public endorsement of a candidate. Cravey is a long-time personal and political friend of Talmadge. Another old friend, Hugh Howell, announced recently for governor, but Talmadge said emphatically he is not supporting Howell.

Efficient Governor.
The man who forecast Rivers' plans said he believed Rivers preferred being an "experienced and efficient Governor" rather than a United States senator who would wield comparatively little influence as a new member of that body.

This prognosticator said he discounted all reports concerning the entry of Talmadge as a candidate for senator in the September primary. He said he believed Talmadge was merely "keeping his hand in the situation" for later campaigns and had "no real intention" of entering the primary, either for the senate seat of George or for a congressional seat.

and learned that he had driven his old car—with only a half of gallon of gasoline in the tank—to a garbage dump off North Decatur road.

Awaited Death.
Affixing a rubber tube eight feet long to the exhaust pipe and running it up through the car's floorboard, Worthing sat in the front seat, doors and windows closed, to await a peaceful journey out of his difficult world.

Fumes filled the inside of the car and he felt himself slipping out of life. Then the motor stopped running. Semiconscious and weak from effects of the fumes, Worthing opened a door of the car and fell out.

Revived by Rain.
He said he lay more than an hour in the mud of the garbage dump. Rain helped to revive him further, and he finally staggered to his feet. He then walked from the dump to Superior avenue, where he made his way to the porch of the Heath home.

The patrolmen took him to Grady hospital. Doctors treated him for mild carbon monoxide poisoning, and then sent him home.

DOG SHOW ENTRIES CLOSE TOMORROW

Constitution Will Sponsor Kennel Club Showing at Shrine Mosque.

breeds, have been entered in the show and H. Morgan Milner, secretary of the Atlanta Kennel Club, Inc., estimates 500 dogs will have been entered by closing time.

For the first time in the history of the Atlanta Dog Show, the competition this year will be under the management of the Foley Dog Show Organization, Inc., of Philadelphia, Pa., which is the same organization that each year stages the Westminster Kennel Club show at Madison Square Garden in New York and the Morris and Essex Dog Show at Madison, N. J., generally considered the two largest dog shows in the world.

Stressing the importance of Atlanta dog owners entering their pets at once, L. J. Osburn, president of the Atlanta Kennel Club, called attention to regulations accepting local owners from paying entrance fees in the local and field trial classes. Local owners are residents of Georgia.

More than 2,000 prizes, in trophies, cash and merchandise will be awarded. There are special prizes for local winners in each breed competition.
To assure expert judging of the entrants, the Kennel Club has obtained seven nationally known dog experts—each recognized judges in their specialized fields—to officiate at the Atlanta show. They are:

Owen Craighead, of Noroton Heights, Conn.; Harold M. Harter, of Toledo, Ohio; Mrs. Mattie L. Heydon, of Detroit; Charles C. Hopton, of Brooklyn; G. N. Owen, of Aiken, S. C.; Mrs. Henrietta Proctor Donnell Reilly, of Larchmont, N. Y., and Mrs. Maude Daniels Smith, of Rye, N. Y.

Judges will officiate in the classes with which they are most familiar. In all cases, the standards of the American Kennel Club will be used.
After viewing the mosque, scene of the Atlanta show, Rafferty said: "This location will place this year's Atlanta dog show on the highest plane in its history. There is no question but that this year's show will be one of the finest in the United States and probably the finest in the south."

Dogs will be kept in one ball room at the mosque while judging will be conducted in the other, thus preventing the possibility of barking dogs upsetting nervous entrants while they are being judged, it was announced.

Entries by Club.
The Dixie Boston Terrier Club will sponsor the entry of Boston terriers in the show.
Any pure-bred dog may be entered in The Constitution's show. Dogs do not have to be registered with the American Kennel Club. Officials are desirous that all pure-bred dogs in the city be entered.
Out-of-town owners who are competing are urged to mail their entry blanks to E. J. Rafferty at Hastings Kennel Shop immediately. Additional information may be obtained by calling Rafferty at Walnut 8464.

ROMANCE IS PROBED IN FROME SLAYINGS

Sheriff Seeks Information About Annulment in New York.

EL PASO, Texas, April 6.—(AP)—A belief that robbery was responsible for the Texas torture slayings of his wife and daughter was expected by Weston G. Frome, Berkeley, Cal., businessman, today while investigators studied the possibility of a "revenge or hate" motive.

Frome talked to newsmen at the California home to which he had taken the bodies of Mrs. Frome and their 23-year-old daughter, Nancy, found mutilated in the cactus-studded country east of here last Sunday. Cash and a portion of their jewelry was missing. "My belief is that only revenge or hatred could have prompted such a brutal crime," said Sheriff

Fox, of El Paso, directing the widespread investigation.

Sheriff Fox said his attention had been directed to New York angles, based on reports reaching him from an El Paso source, that Nancy Frome was involved in a romance ending in a New York annulment. He would not go into detail in this respect, however.

The sheriff emphasized he had made no official demand upon New York authorities as yet, but was interested in obtaining information from there pertinent to the case.

EMPLOYER ORDERED TO SIGN AGREEMENT
WASHINGTON, April 6.—(AP)—The Roosevelt dicta that an employer should be willing to put into writing any agreement he reaches with labor was woven into a National Labor Relations Board order today. A court test may ensue.

The board directed the Inland Steel Corporation to draw up a written contract with the Steel Workers' Organizing Committee (CIO) if it reached an agreement with that union. Refusal to sign the document under such circumstances was declared a violation of the Wagner labor relations act.

The board's position was substantially the same as the attitude expressed by President Roosevelt during the "little steel" strike last summer. He said he could not understand why an employer who had reached an oral understanding should be averse to putting it on paper.

Written agreements were a paramount issue in a strike, involving Inland Steel and three other "independent" companies. The strike started after the companies announced they would sign no pacts with the "irresponsible" SWOC.

The Wagner act, the companies stated, did not require written agreements. They said they would deal with the SWOC as representatives of its members in their plans. That, they said, was as much as the law required.

But the labor board decided otherwise.

"Coming to the question of a signed, written agreement as distinguished from an oral agreement, we cannot see any justification for drawing a line between the two and holding that an unwillingness to enter into a written agreement is lawful, but that embodying understanding in an oral agreement is an employer's obligation," the board said.

"Employees realize that ordinary business dealings of any magnitude and complexity are conducted through written agreements."

"They rightly fear that an oral agreement paves the way for prolonged haggling over what actually was agreed to."

The board emphasized that oral agreements were perfectly valid if employer and employee were satisfied with them, then added:

"But employees, in insisting on a written agreement, are merely asking what any prudent businessman would expect as a matter of course from those with whom he deals."

IT SEEMS IT'S A CAR FOLKS WON'T DO WITHOUT!

WE WERE pretty sure we had a great car when some months ago we checked the final blueprints on the 1938 Buick.

It had the new and mighty DYNAFLASH engine for sparkling action—the sensationally desirable TORQUE-FREE SPRINGING for a lullaby of a ride.

Looking ahead in that promising day, we figured we had every chance of getting our sales share by reason of what this car gave the buyer for his money.

Now, when times are sterner, it appears we built better than we knew—we've got a car folks just won't do without!

This great new Buick was first introduced to the public last fall. Through September, October, November, it sold in steadily increasing volume.

In a period when sales of other cars were sliding off it went ahead, in one month actually outselling one of the Big Three of the lowest-priced field.

NEW TORQUE-FREE SPRINGING...gentles every jar and jolt...reduces skid-risks...makes rear tires last longer.

NEW DYNAFLASH ENGINE...puts cyclones at your service...nearly 10% more power from the same rationing of fuel.

NO OTHER CAR IN THE WORLD HAS ALL THESE FEATURES

It's still going ahead—not car Number Seven or Eight, as one might expect by its price-class, but one of the season's Four Best Sellers!

There is only one explanation of such a record when made by a car in the thousand-dollar bracket.

Such a car is so good—has so much of value in it—people just won't do without it!

They buy it not only in preference to other cars—they buy in preference to waiting for easier times and readier money-to-spend!

That's the convincing sort of car you're about to drive when you first take the wheel of a 1938 Buick.

If you haven't yet handled a new Buick, you ought to—just to see what such a car is like!

LEADERS OPPOSING METHODIST MERGER WILL MEET MONDAY

Plans To Combat Union Will Be Discussed at Dinner; Fort To Preside.

Methodist leaders opposing unification of the southern branch of the Methodist church with the northern branch will formulate further plans for combating the move at a dinner at 6 o'clock Monday night, on the Ansley hotel roof.

Hundreds of invitations to church officials and lay leaders, men and women, have been mailed by the Laymen's Organization for Preservation of the Southern Methodist church, with headquarters at 1023 Mortgage Guarantee building.

T. Hicks Fort, of Columbus, will preside at the meeting and brief talks will be made by outstanding Methodists.

Overwhelming Sentiment.

Dr. James W. Lipscomb, who is leading the movement against unification, declared yesterday that the response to the organization's work indicates considerable sentiment against the plan. The question will be decided at the general conference which meets in Birmingham April 28.

"Churches everywhere, on finding out the true intent of this movement, are voting against it," said Dr. Lipscomb. "I can cite the figures throughout southern Methodism."

"We expect to consolidate these tremendous figures at the Monday night meeting and show to the Methodist membership, which has been duped in this matter, that there are those in the church who are protecting their interests. Members are flocking to this cause by the thousands and it only goes to show that they had no idea as to what was being put over on them."

"We expect to be on hand in Birmingham, and opponents of unification from Mississippi, Alabama, Florida and the two Carolinas and Tennessee will likewise be there, and we intend to stage a demonstration there that will prove not only to the delegates in the general conference, but to American Methodism that the southern church has everything to lose and nothing to gain by the fiction of unification."

"Leaps and Bounds." "The sheer honesty of our cause is the thing which is making it grow by leaps and bounds. Every Methodist in Georgia who is opposed to the plan will find a cordial welcome at this Monday night meeting. We know that it will mark a turning point in the course of this movement."

Members on the local special committee are Justice John B. Hutcheson, John M. Slaton, Judge James C. Davis, Walter L. Richard, Jere A. Wells, D. T. Manget, Miller S. Bell, Garland M. Jones, W. N. Banks, James A. McCord, W. W. Brewton, Judge Clarence Bell, John Wesley Weekes, Frank Thomas, Hatton Lovejoy, Judge Augustus M. Roan, John A. Dunaway, G. Seals Aiken, Robert Lee Avery, J. D. ROME LEVEE WORK WILL START SOON

Contractors Await 'Go Ahead' Signal on Project.

ROME, Ga., April 6.—Contractors for the Rome flood control project will set up offices here next week in preparation for work on the two-mile levee system, First Commissioner H. H. Keel announced today.

The contractor company is now awaiting the order to proceed with the work. Its bid of $254,765 was accepted recently.

The "go ahead" signal is expected to be issued within a few days, and actual moving of dirt will get under way within 30 days thereafter.

Included in the huge project will be construction of approximately three-quarters of a mile of concrete walls, widening and dredging of the Oostanula and Coosa rivers for about two miles, erection of nearly two miles of levees and installation of two pumping stations with stop log openings.

Approximately 180 WPA workers will be employed on the project for eight months, in addition to any other labor necessary, Mr. Keel said.

HAPPY RELIEF FROM PAINFUL BACKACHE

Caused by Tired Kidneys

Many of those gnawing, nagging, painful backaches people blame on colds or strains are often caused by tired kidneys—and may be relieved when treated in the right way. The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking out acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. Most people pass about a pint a day or about 3 pounds of waste.

If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by men and women for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from the blood. Get Doan's Pills.

PEKOR CONVICTED OF MANSLAUGHTER

Ex-Atlantan Insists Shooting Was Accidental.

LOS ANGELES, April 6.—(P)—A jury convicted Ralph D. Pekor, artist and film extra from Birmingham, Ala., and former resident of Atlanta, Ga., of manslaughter today for the killing of William Williamson, 28, who came here from a farm near Jefferson City, Mo., to seek a film oowboy career.

In the trial, Pekor insisted the shooting was accidental but he and his lawyer appeared pleased that the verdict was no more than manslaughter. Pekor grasped the hands of several of the nine women and three men jurors.

He was ordered to return to court tomorrow for sentence, which can be 1 to 10 years in prison.

EX-ATLANTAN SEES 48 YEARS' CHANGES

H. S. Shaw Recalls Prediction This City Would Surpass Memphis.

Almost 50 years ago, two brothers, John W. and Harry S. Shaw, stood at Five Points and made predictions about the future of cities in the south.

"Memphis, Tenn., is going to outgrow them all," asserted John W. Shaw.

"Nope, you're wrong, Atlanta is going to be the biggest," argued Harry, who was at that time a director in a company of Dr. J. S. Pemberton, discoverer of the Coca-Cola formula.

Yesterday, the champion of Atlanta's future returned and looked again at Five Points. He was amazed, he declared, at the changes time had wrought. He walked about the downtown district and met surprise after surprise in constructions.

"I thought the city would grow, but not this much," commented Harry S. Shaw, now 78, who had not seen Atlanta since 1885—or 48 years ago—until he arrived here for a one-day visit yesterday. "When I was here last, you could get stuck in the mud with five blocks of the downtown district. Grant Park looked like a jungle."

The elderly man kissed his sweetheart goodby and went to Summerville, Tenn. He intended returning, but his sweetheart died and he never came back—until yesterday.

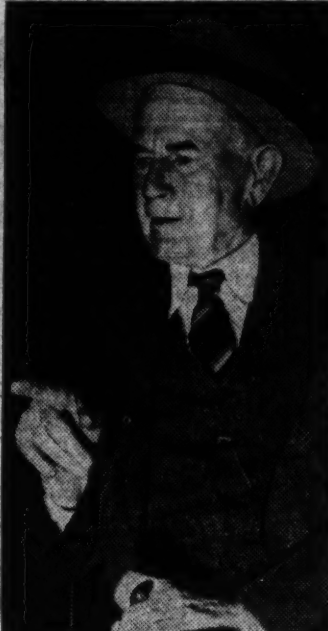

His brother, John W. Shaw, who championed the growth of Memphis, is now dead. Harry Shaw founded a bank in Summerville, which he operated many years before his retirement several months ago.

Socialized Medicine Plan Is Laid At Door of 'Imaginative Idealists'

Program "Bound To Come," But Will Bring "Sad Day for Rank and File," Rome Doctor Tells Seventh District Medical Association.

CARTERSVILLE, Ga., April 6.—(P)—Dr. Mather M. McCord, of Rome, declared today the movement toward socialized medicine was fostered by imaginative idealists who believed it possible "to slice off medical service and administer to sufferers just about as one would slice off bread and pass it out to the needy."

He spoke at a meeting of the Seventh District Medical Society. "It is my firm conviction that state medicine or the so-called socialized medicine is bound to come sooner or later," Dr. McCord said. "However, in my judgment, it will be a sad day for the rank and file of citizens of our country."

"If we are to have a complete change in the manner of rendering medical services, it should be left in the hands of the physicians to work out such a plan designed for the good of all concerned."

Politicians' Work.

He said politicians would continue to agitate for state medicine so long as they believe it would increase their popularity in the home districts.

"It has been said on good authority that during the past ten years enough money has been spent on surveys to take adequate care of those detected by the surveys. The surveys are still going on and the doctors are left to provide for the indigent."

"If the state is so interested in medical care, why is it that it does not eliminate quacks, and thus prevent the expenditure of $145,000,000 each year for such folly?" he asked. "Why doesn't the state control patent medicine and thus save the people $350,000,000 each year spent on worthless and even dangerous nostrums?"

"Technical Advisors."

He said doctors, union labor, industry and the majority of the people were not advocating state control. He said it was fostered by "technical advisors" and "some of the present nurses in our country today may be the result of unwise guidance by a group of men who are technical, but void of an ounce of practical sense."

Dr. Z. V. Johnston, of Calhoun, was elected president of the society. Dr. J. L. Gerrard, of Rome, was chosen president-elect, and Dr. John M. McGehee, of Cedar-town, secretary. Johnston and Dr. W. P. Harbin Jr., of Rome, were elected to the State Board of Health.

Dr. Ross P. Cox, of Rome, delivered the anniversary address, and scientific papers on the program included Dr. M. Van Teem, of Marietta; Dr. Grady N. Coker, of Canton, president of the Medical Association of Georgia; Dr. C. C. Aven, of Atlanta, and Dr. Muri Hagood, of Marietta.

Boys' High Students Meet Sponsors Through Columns of The Tatler

By Sally Forth.

LAST week The Tatler of Boys' High school had a guest columnist—a girl, if you please! Which is most unusual, in case you don't know, for the publication is thoroughly masculine, with not a trace of femininity about it, except for a picture now and then for the sake of adornment.

Last week's guest was Edna Stewart Sturtevant, a well-known young West End columnist, and a picture of the writer accompanies her front-page interview. It seems that most of the boys at Boys' High stay so busy that they seldom find time to know or even see the lovely sponsors chosen for their various clubs and activities. So in order to alleviate this deplorable condition, they asked Edna to interview all their sponsors so that they might get acquainted with them, so to speak, through her story and the columns of The Tatler.

Fully versed in the art of interviewing, the guest writer went about her assignment in a businesslike manner. First, she called on Mimi Pappenheimer, who has the distinction of being sponsor for both the Hi-Y Club and the Alcephronian editorial staff. And not only did she describe the vivacious and brunet Mimi for the edification of her readers, but she quoted the belle on her reaction to being named for such high honors and inquired into her hobbies, her likes and dislikes.

In turn she took up the other sponsors in a similar manner, going completely through the list which includes, in addition to Mimi, Rosalyn Willis, who is sponsor for the yearbook business staff; Frances Blackstone, who does the honors for The Tatler; Marian West, who carries the banner for the first R. O. T. C. battalion; Dorothy Reese, sponsor for the second battalion; Alvin Burnett, sponsor for Lieutenant Colonel Pat Sanders; Betty Withers, sponsor for Colonel Frank Di Cristina of the R. O. T. C., and Mary Sue Kent, who is the sponsor for "Red" Griffith, major of the second battalion.

SHE is a semi-blond of the Dresden type of beauty and is handsome and very blond. Her romance has been the object of rumors for the past three or four months, but its outcome, up to now, has been a mystery. Last week, the belle in question entertained at a party and was soon to have a circular band to accompany the lovely diamond ring she is wearing. The donor of this lovely jewelry is none other than the handsome blond, and wedding bells will ring for this popular young couple just before summer gets well under way.

THE thrill of exploring a new country, enjoying new customs and relaxing under tropical skies is in store for Mrs. St. Elmo Massengale and Mrs. Julian Clark, who leave today by motor for Mexico. It will be their first trip down the Gulf coast, with visits in Mobile and Gulfport, and later in New Orleans. The two matrons say they will visit every nook and corner in Mexico and will not abide by any set schedule, but will rest and tour as the time and spirit moves them. There is no date set for their return.

WITH the arrival of spring, when old and young alike become garden-minded, Sally, too, develops a horticultural viewpoint. No magazine featuring comments and pictures of a floral nature escapes her eyes. A recent publication announces two dahlia novelties introduced this year bearing the names of "Gone With the Wind" and "Scarlett O'Hara." Although of the miniature type, the new dahlias combine all of the features of the larger sorts with strong, stiff stems, erect blooms, good growing habits and robust bush growth which is insect-resistant.

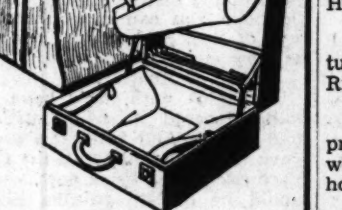

The bloom bearing the name of the popular book which has brought fame to its author as well as to Atlanta, is of the miniature informal decorative type and is colored a pale yellow, shading deeper toward the center of a very full bloom, petals of which twist slightly, gives the flower a most graceful effect.

The flower named for the book's leading feminine character is a cross between the miniature semi-cactus and the large orange-scarlet seedling of Baby Royal with similar formation, better habits and more robust bush growth and is insect-resistant. It has long, wiry stems and is a prolific bloomer.

Annual Alumnae Home-Coming Takes Place Friday at Girls' High

Plans have been completed for the annual alumnae home-coming day at Girls' High school, which takes place tomorrow and which will assemble hundreds of former students of the school. Among former students to attend will be Mrs. L. M. Shadgett, now of Athens, the former Miss Olive Hall, of Atlanta, who served as president of the Girls' High alumnae last year. All former students are invited to attend the celebration, whether members of the association or not.

The class with the largest percentage of members present will have the name engraved on the silver attendance plaque. This honor was won last year by the class of 1875. Alumnae are urged to get in touch with friends and attend the home-coming celebration in a body. Registration tables will be set up in the lobby and everyone is requested to register in order that the record of attendance may be accurate.

An unusual program has been arranged to include a series of three half-hour lectures followed by an hour of original entertainment. The program begins at 10:30 and continues until 2:30 o'clock, featuring such noted persons as Miss Minna McLeod Beck, interior decorator; Mrs. Donald Hastings, president of the Garden Clubs of Georgia, and Julian Harris, Atlanta sculptor and artist.

Another high-spot on the program will be the original entertainment sponsored by the alumnae members, under the supervision of Mrs. Robert B. Taylor, with the assistance of Mrs. Berrien Moore Jr. No announcement is being made regarding plans for this feature, but those who attended last year's home-coming will recall the delightfully interesting program at that time also under Mrs. Taylor's supervision. Lunch will be served in the school cafeteria and reservations must be made by today for the affair.

The Horse Falls, Not the Fence, in the Grand National Steeplechase

LIVERPOOL, England.—(By Mail.)—Aintree saw its first Grand National in 1839. Two races had been run at another village before the race was brought to the sprawling, sleepy village five miles out from Liverpool.

There are 16 fences and all but two are taken twice, making 30 jumps in all. Not all horses carry as much as 175 pounds, although in the race this year one horse carried 192 pounds and finished the race.

We write about the tremendous task of a horse running a

TRAYNOR FINES 'SEVERAL' BUCS AFTER 'BRAWL'

Russell Bauers Sent to Hospital With Wrenched Knee.

CLOVIS, N. M., April 6.—(AP)—Manager Pie Traynor hurled a bombshell among his Pirates today when he herded them together on short notice, fined several of them for breaking training rules and sent Russell Bauers by airplane to St. Louis for treatment of an injury suffered in a scuffle.

Bauers was being groomed to pitch the opening game against the Cardinals one week from next Tuesday, but hurt his knee so badly he may be unable to play for some time.

Monday's exhibition at Barstow, Cal., the citizens showed their hospitality to such an extent that some of the athletes failed to sidestep liquid refreshments and were feeling playful when they boarded their three Pullman cars late that night.

Six gathered in a smoking compartment and a friendly wrestling match developed. Bauers, reports said, proved to be so powerful that his five companions were needed to pin him upon the linoleum.

He wrenched his knee falling. Traynor refused to name those fined.

A home run by Catcher Warren with a mate on base gave the Clovis semi-pros a 2-to-1 victory today over Pirates in a five-inning exhibition game, ending a streak of 11 straight triumphs by the major leaguers.

The weather was so cold Al Todd and Arky Vaughan wore gloves at bat. The game was abbreviated because of a dust storm.

BOBBY DENIES HE HAS ASKED RULE CHANGES

Jones Might Consider Playing in Open If Qualifying Is Out.

By UNITED PRESS.

Robert Tyre (Bobby) Jones Jr., yesterday said he has "no personal interest whatever" in the United States Golf Association changing its rules to permit former champions to play in the national open without competing in sectional qualifying rounds.

Jones made a statement denying that he had said he would participate in the 1938 open in Denver if he did not have to qualify in sectional play—as he was quoted by a sports columnist.

NO CHANGE.

A. M. Reid, president of the U. S. G. A., indicated in New York that the rules would not be changed to permit former champions to be qualified automatically for this year's open.

"As much as Bobby means to golf and as much as I'd like to see him play in the open, I hardly see how the rules could be changed in time for this year's tournament," Reid explained.

"I did not," Jones said, "make any statement with reference to my participation in the 1938 open championship at Denver. I was asked whether if the rules governing this competition should be modified to permit past champions to play without going through the sectional qualifying rounds I might like to play again."

"I replied that if this were done I might consider playing occasionally when the tournament happened to be played at a convenient time and place, but that under no circumstance would I resume the status of a regular competitor whereby my appearance year after year might be expected."

"So far, as I am personally concerned, I have no interest whatever in the proposal to modify the rules. I think such a move might be a good thing for the game since I feel that the appearance of some of the old-timers would add some color to the open championship."

Hoagland's Setter Wins in Field Trial

MEDFORD, N. J., April 6.—(AP)—Rumson Farms Dawn, a white and liver pointer owned by Raymond Hoagland, of Cartersville, Ga., took first place today in the opening stake of the thirty-fifth field trial of the English Setter Club of America.

Exhibiting a mature performance on the course of the friend of the hunting dog near here, Rumson Farms Dawn took the Gustave Fabst blue ribbon.

Gomez To Contest Separation Suit

NEW YORK, April 6.—(UP)—Lefty Gomez, Yankee southpaw pitcher star, has stopped divorce proceedings against his wife, June O'Dea, former musical comedy star, and will fight her separation suit, Loyell Birrell, his attorney, said tonight.

The separation suit was scheduled for hearing tomorrow in supreme court before Judge Isadore Wasservogel but it will be postponed to a date to be set by the court tomorrow, Birrell said.

HE'LL DON ATLANTA UNIFORM

Ralph Buxton, who won 13 games and lost 9 for Oklahoma City of the Texas league last season, is due to wear a Cracker uniform this summer. The young right-hander, who has had five years' experience in pro ball, was left here yesterday by the Athletics. Waivers have been asked on him in the major leagues and no claim is expected to be made. Manager Paul Richards is so impressed with Buxton's ability that he has listed him as a starting pitcher. He was a starter with Oklahoma City last year and had a fine earned-run average.

Another Wes Ferrell?

Athletics Liken Crackers' Larry Miller to Famous Right-Hander Because of Similarity of Build and Easy Style of Pitching.

By Jack Troy

The Philadelphia Athletics departed Atlanta last night still talking about the pitching ability of Larry Miller, youthful Cracker right-hander who handed them their only setback in the four-game series. Rain canceled the final exhibition game at Rome yesterday afternoon.

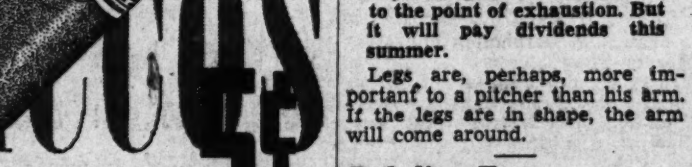

Most of the A's likened Miller unto Wes Ferrell because of a similarity of build and easy pitching style. Miller, however, is a bit rangier than Ferrell and seems to have a freer delivery. Still, it was quite a compliment. Miller might also be interested to know that President Trammell Scott, of the Southern league, was "carried away" by his showing over the nine-inning route.

"That Miller has a change of pace that won't quit," Scott said yesterday. "And I particularly liked his easy style of delivery. He just looks like a real pitcher."

It is not at all surprising that he has shown such steady development. He was tied with Bob Porter, of Little Rock, for second place in wins and losses among Southern league moundsmen last season. He won 12 and lost eight.

There is an inclination to nominate him as the starting pitcher on opening day against Knoxville. It is, of course, not a bad idea. Miller last season won the Constitution's "Outstanding Cracker."

FLORIDA LOSSES TO 'MAKE' CLUB, SAYS ANDERSON

Petrels Win Only Half of Games on Trip; Archer Faces Crackers Today

Rain washed away all hopes Coach Frank Anderson had for getting in one more day of preparation for the Petrel nine's biggest test of the season today when they meet the Atlanta Crackers out at Ponce de Leon park.

The Petrels returned Monday from a road trip which carried them into Florida. They were able to win half of their games while away but Anderson was left dazed by the poor showing his boys made against Florida and Rollins.

The Petrel nine lost two straight to the 'Gators, getting only five hits in the two games, and in their first with Rollins they were able to muster the grand total of four hits.

However, in their last game with Rollins, the Birds did return to form and shellacked the ball for

RICHARDS SAYS RANGY FLINGER TO BE STARTER

Atlanta Plays Oglethorpe Nine at Ponce de Leon Today.

By JACK TROY.

Manager Paul Richards is figuring on as starting pitchers—Larry Miller, Bill Beckman, Luman Harris, Ralph Buxton.

The youthful Cracker pilot has not determined on a fifth starter, the remainder of the moundmen not having proved as yet that they have earned a starter's rating. Buxton, who won 13 and lost nine with Oklahoma City last year and had an excellent earned run average, is virtually certain to be with the Crackers all summer on option.

Connie Mack left the young hurler here yesterday as the A's departed for Norfolk to continue their exhibition swing north.

Waivers have been asked on Buxton, but only in the major leagues. The claiming price is $7,500. And, since Oklahoma City has waived any claim on him—they prefer to keep the draft price of $6,000—it doesn't stand to reason any major league club will stand in the way of the Crackers' keeping Buxton. The double A leagues have no voice in the matter.

17 Matches Scheduled Today in Atlanta Invitation Tourney

BUXTON BATTLES JONES TONIGHT IN FEATURE TILT

Rain Forces Postponement; Classic Round on Today's Card.

By JOHNNY BRADBERRY.
Rain having forced postponement of yesterday's round, 17 matches in both singles and doubles will be played, weather permitting, this afternoon and tonight in the fourth annual Atlanta invitation tennis tournament on the Northside Club courts.

All tickets issued for Wednesday's play will be good tonight. The Lions, Kivians, Rotarians and Civilians will have their night as guests of the club—even though it comes a day late. However, they will benefit by the delay as all first-round doubles will be played today in addition to singles.

STARS IN ACTION.
Every seeded player in the tournament will be in action in today's round, which bid fair to be the best of the tournament.

Featured will be the match between Atlanta's Davey Jones and fifth-seeded Martin Buxton, of Miami, at 9 o'clock. Buxby respects the power of Jones, having admitted as much Tuesday night when he recalled the time Jones blasted him from a tournament in Miami.

"If he still has that same terrific service," Buxby said, "it's going to be tough." And Jones still has that service, experienced observers said after seeing him in his only appearance thus far.

This afternoon at 3 o'clock, Burtz Boulware and third-seeded John McDiarmid, of Princeton, will have it out in the spotlighted match of the afternoon play.

HENDRIX-ANDERSON.
Fourth-ranked Arthur Hendrix and J. Norman Anderson, hard-hitting New Yorkers, open the night's singles play at 7 o'clock. Bobby Riggs, No. 1, and Champ Reese meet at 8 in another of the feature matches.

Elwood Cooke, No. 7, and E. Tarshis, Montreal, Canada, meet at 4 this afternoon; Wayne Sabin, No. 2, plays Red Hill at 5; Bernie Coghlan, No. 6, battles Gus Ganzmuller, another New Yorker, at 1, and Russell Bobbitt, No. 8, and Welden Seleskey entangle at 2 o'clock.

Tournament officials wish to announce the entrance to the Northside Club is on Juniper street and not North avenue.

TODAY'S SCHEDULE.
1 P. M.—Bernie Coghlan, Los Angeles, vs. Gus Ganzmuller, New York.
2 P. M.—Dr. Kels Boland, Atlanta, vs. Harry Everett, Jacksonville; Russell Bobbitt, Atlanta, vs. Welden Seleskey, Atlanta.
3 P. M.—John McDiarmid, Princeton, vs. Burtz Boulware, Atlanta; Martin Buxton, Miami, vs. Arthur Hendrix, New York.
4 P. M.—Elwood Cooke, Portland, vs. E. Tarshis, Montreal; Wayne Sabin, Riggs vs. Carl Lindsey, Red Hill; John McDiarmid vs. Arthur Hendrix; Bill DeSalle, Harrison.

5 P. M.—Wayne Sabin, Los Angeles, vs. Red Hill, Atlanta; Bernie Coghlan, Elwood Cooke vs. J. T. Chambers-Weldon Seleskey; David Jones-Malon Courts vs. Marion Reese-Cody Laird.

NIGHT.
7 P. M.—Arthur Hendrix, Lakeland, vs. J. Norman Anderson, New York; Russell Bobbitt vs. Bill Moore vs. Harry Gault-Glenn McConnell.
8 P. M.—Bobby Riggs, Chicago, vs. Champ Reese, Atlanta.
9 P. M.—Martin Buxton, Miami, vs. David Jones, Atlanta.
10 P. M.—J. Norman Anderson-Gus Ganzmuller vs. Molly Williamson-E. Tarshis.

George Davis Jumps Redlegs, Quits Ball

SAVANNAH, Ga., April 6.—(UP)—George Davis, veteran Cincinnati Red outfielder, "jumped" the club and quit baseball today. Davis, who has played with the Reds for seven years, apparently made his sudden decision when he saw no chance of playing regularly in the Reds' outfield.

Davis explained he quit because he "could not bear the idea of sitting on a bench again."

The Bridgeport veteran of 12 years in organized baseball, six in the majors and in two World Series with the New York Giants, said his retirement had been made with the full consent of the Reds' management.

'Gator Netmen Play Jackets Saturday

GAINESVILLE, Fla., April 6.—The University of Florida tennis team left today for a road trip in Georgia where it will meet Mercer Thursday, Emory University Friday and Georgia Tech Saturday.

Coach Dutch Stanley named the following team: Sam O'Bryan, Jim Pollard, Miami; Alan Brackett, Heywood Ellis, manager, West Palm Beach; Babe Bartlett, Orlando; Lucius Merritt, Pensacola; Victor Cawthon, Tallahassee, and Ed Carmichael, Tampa.

TIDE'S $100,000 KICKER FACES TECH HERE ON TRACK SATURDAY

"Sandy" Sanford, University of Alabama's place-kicking end, who booted the Tide into the Rose Bowl last year, will appear here with the Crimson trackmen against Tech at Grant field Saturday. Sanford competes in the dashes and shot put.

This is his first year in the sprints and he shows real promise. Here Coach Red Drew (left) gives his protege a few pointers at Tuscaloosa. Alabama has a green team this year, but boasts several standouts.

opinion of Buxton at Gainesville the other day. Buxton showed Richards plenty in the one time he faced him from the mound. Ralph got two strikes on Paul without using anything but a fast ball which Richards fouled off. Then he came in with a screw ball—which actually is a left-hander's curve—and struck him out.

Buxton uses the screwball considerably. And he has excellent control of it. He has been handicapped this spring by the fact that he hasn't had enough work. But Richards quickly will take care of that.

Jame. Isaminger, who has been writing baseball for some 30 years for Philadelphia papers, said yesterday that, in his opinion, the Athletics kept several pitchers of less promise than Buxton. "I think he is the only pitcher we could let go, outside of Bud Thomas, who would do Atlanta any good."

CAN'T SIGN YET.
Atlanta can't sign Buxton to a contract, of course, until major league clubs have had time to waive on him. It may take a week for that.

The four pitchers named as starters are all right-handers. And the leading southpaw prospect for a starter's berth seems to be Tom Sunkel, who is with Atlanta on option from the Cardinals.

Bob Durham is ailing at the present time, having had an extensive session with a dentist day before yesterday. He will be ready to resume heavy duty in a couple of days.

Durham and Leo Moon apparently are going to be used in relief roles, with John Michaels also a likely looking relief hurler.

Lowell (Bull) Hamons, who has a curve ball that won't quit, also is being given careful consideration, as is John Pezzullo, a left-hander.

STAFF IS SET.
With the acquisition of Buxton, the Cracker staff is now set. And it ranks as the best pitching staff in the Southern league, bar none.

The Crackers, weather permitting, will play the Oglethorpe Petrels this afternoon at 3 o'clock at Ponce de Leon. If it continues to rain, Manager Richards will continue to hold workouts under the stands. There is ample room for running.

The Washington Senators come to town Friday and Dutch Leonard, who has won a starting place on the Senator staff, will face his old teammates.

Saturday and Sunday the world's champion New York Yankees will be here.

If it is possible to play today, Art Evans and Jim Trexler, a pair of left-handed pitchers, will face the Petrels of Frank Anderson.

Cage Body Applies 'Brakes' to Game

Another Time-out Period Given; However, No Subs Allowed After Goal.

CHICAGO, April 6.—(P)—The rules committee of the National Association of Basketball Coaches today applied two "brakes" to last season's "racehorse" game.

The committee increased to five the permissible number of time-outs for the college game and provided for optional use four 10-minute quarters instead of the usual 20-minute halves.

The "three-second rule," used last season by national A. A. U. teams and recommended unanimously yesterday by the coaches, also was adopted.

Other rule changes approved included: Optional use of a 4-foot, instead of a 2-foot, out-of-bounds margin behind the face of backboards and barring of substitutions after a goal is made until the ball is back in play.

The outer half of the foul circle was exempted from present provisions of the "three-second" rule in the case of a player who does not have possession of the ball, bringing the collegiate regulations into accord with those of the A. A. U. The change eliminates last season's penalty for lingering in the area by players without the ball. The rule remains unchanged in regard to players having the ball.

TENNIS NOTES

Rainy-day tennis notes from Atlanta Invitation:

Tough break . . . the rain yesterday . . . but typical A. T. A. tournament weather . . . seems as if Atlanta can't have a tournament without rain . . . and, to top it all, the torrents came just as the meet was off to its best start in history . . . every match up to scheduled.

Malcolm Manley, in his match with Martin Buxby Tuesday, has just passed his foe at the net with a beautiful shot . . . The next time Buxby came charging in, Malcolm shot another past him . . . Buxby smiled and said . . . "You really wasn't foolin' the first time, were you, Malcolm?" . . . Manley is one of the finest players in Atlanta . . . and he showed plenty of improvement in his game Tuesday.

Biggest surprises of tournament thus far . . . Burtz Boulware's convincing triumph over Merritt Cutler, member of the national indoor doubles championship team . . . and Champ Reese's win over Lefty Bill Moore . . . Moore is too erratic for tournament tennis, experts say.

Darkest dark horse . . . E. Tarshis, of Montreal, Canada . . . Tarshis was giving Preston Chambers a sound thrashing when Preston sprained his ankle and was forced to default . . . Elwood Cooke was impressed with Tarshis' power, after he had hit a few with him . . . Add dark horses . . . J. Norman Anderson, of New York . . . who took Red Enloe in stride after solving Enloe's baffling, high bouncing service to his backhand . . . and Davey Jones, of Atlanta, who will be featured against Buxby tonight . . . weather permitting.

Best (and only) bet on finalists . . . Riggs and Sabin . . . and Riggs for title.

Greatest improvement on Atlanta tennis front is the Northside Tennis Club . . . lights are fine . . . New York players say they are much better than indoor lights . . . courts and stands are also excellent . . . players say it is tops in tennis stadiums.

Speer Loses To Roche On Foul

Frank Speer's victory streak came to an end last night at the Warren Arena, but a surprisingly large crowd which braved some of the worst weather of the year was not at all pleased with the outcome. True enough, Speer lost, but it was via the foul route. Referee Tiny Ruff disqualified the former Tech tackle for stomping Dorv Roche into the mat in the second fall after Roche had won the first fall in 28 minutes.

Speer knocked Roche down and proceeded to kick him in the stomach and then on the thigh, repeating the procedure for some 20 times, before Ruff intervened and raised the hand of Roche, who required assistance to get to his quarters after the match. Speer was so incensed he kicked the referee out of the ring and cracked a hole in Ruff's chin. (It is automatically a fine for a wrestler to strike a referee.)

It was fast and furious match all the way with Roche's speed and wrestling skill offsetting Speer's roughness.

A polished newcomer, Henry Piers, of Holland, knocked off George Ligowski, the Russian in two out of three falls, while Big Jim Wright crushed Ray Villmer in the one-fall opener.

The crowd, in view of the terrible weather, was a very striking indication of the strong hold wrestling has on Atlanta sport fans.

who had seen Solters pursue the ball into the citizenry and catch it near the foul line, protested violently. The crowd rushed out to the field. In the midst of the confusion Tobin conferred with Lou Kolls, the base umpire, and announced the forfeit.

York Pounds Out Two Homers, Triple.

CLEARWATER, Fla., April 6.—(P)—Led by Rudy York, who pounded two homers and a triple, the Detroit Tigers jumped the Brooklyn Dodgers for 11 hits and a 10-4 triumph today. It was the Flatbush clan's seventh straight loss.

York's triple was the big blow of the first inning fireworks which netted the Bengals four runs on three hits. He and Charlie Gehringer clouted homers in the seventh in which the winners again got four runs. York's first four-base blow came in the sixth.

Elks Switch Fight Card To 15th

The fight card originally scheduled to be sponsored by Atlanta Elks at Warren arena on April 12 has been moved back to Friday, April 15, according to announcement yesterday. Since a stand-out wrestling show and special attraction is billed at the Warren arena next Wednesday night, officials thought it inadvisable to offer two big sports attractions here on successive nights.

The fight card will be headlined by Battling Burroughs, southern welterweight champion, from Pascagoula, Miss., and Brico Garcia, fiery champion of Mexico. Garcia formerly fought under the name of Midget Mexico and in two bouts with Tony Canzoneri in Madison Square Garden made boxing history.

Frankie Allen and Harold Glymp, both of Atlanta, will appear in the semi-final. Preliminaries are being arranged.

Admiral-'Biscuit' Duel Has 2 $100,000 Bids

Arlington Race Proposed for July; Riddle 'Likes' Belmont in Fall.

By ORLO ROBERTSON.
NEW YORK, April 6.—(P)—War Admiral and Seabiscuit, rivals for American thoroughbred honors, today faced an opportunity to match strides twice this season, with $100,000 at stake on each occasion, as nation-wide bidding boomed for the horse-racing "natural" of 1938.

On top of negotiations for a $100,000 match race this fall at Belmont park, initiated by the New York state racing commission, Chicago's Arlington park today put forward a definite offer of a $100,000 purse for a race in July.

The Chicago offer, made through John D. Hertz, specified that Maxwell Howard's Stagehand, victor over Seabiscuit by a nose in the $100,000 Santa Anita handicap last month, would be invited to make it a three-cornered test at Arlington if Stagehand wins the Kentucky Derby.

Arlington proposed a mile and a quarter race at weight for age. Under the scale for July, War Admiral and Seabiscuit would pick up 128 pounds and Stagehand, 114. The Chicago track suggested the race be run the second or third week of the meeting, which opens June 27 and closes July 30.

That proposed Arlington date conflicts with Seabiscuit's engagement in the $50,000 Hollywood handicap at the New Inglewood, Cal. track, July 16.

War Admiral, which arrived at Belmont park today, is being pointed for the Excelsior handicap at Jamaica, May 7; the Suburban at Belmont park, May 30; the Brooklyn at Aqueduct, June 25, and the $50,000 Massachusetts handicap at Suffolk Downs later in the same month.

Although they have never met, there is little to choose between the pair in money won. War Admiral, unbeaten since his two-year-old campaign, has earned $230,625 and Seabiscuit, $239,885, the majority of it since he was purchased by Howard from the Wheatley stable in August, 1936.

If the two meet, it will be the first important match race in this country since Zev defeated the Epsom Derby winner, Papyrus, at Belmont park in 1923.

AVERAGE PRICE.
 NEW ORLEANS, April 6.—
 —The average price of middling cotton today at 10 southern spot markets was 8.50 cents a pound. The average price for the past 30 markets days was 8.4 cents a pound.

NEW YORK, April 6. (P)—Cotton was easier today under high selling and liquidation. It sold off from 8.56 to 8.52 and ended at the low with final prices 7 points lower.

The market opened 2 to 5 points in response to declines at Liverpool and Bombay and under news from abroad. Offerings were aggressive and price soon reacted to this pressure. The price of previous finals on moderate lot and trade buying selling increased in the last hour as early resold and Wall Street liquidation appeared. Spot cotton and textile markets were dull.

The price of the previous day's offerings of farmers to plant cotton rose issued pointing to acreages of 26,646,000 and 27,850,000 combed with 34,383,000 planted last year. Exports 22,265, making 79,752 so far this season. Port receipts 6,121, United States port stocks 3,933,161.

The foreign selling was again attempted principally to Liverpool and Bombay although the latter offerings were not as active as on Tuesday. Declines at Liverpool reflected easiness at Bombay and straddle reversing from that source. The Bombay discount unimpaired. New York for May deliveries down almost 100 points compared with only 11 points at the narrowspread this season in January the Bombay straddle is said to have a profit to Bombay interests who previously bought in New York and sold in their own market.

ATTENTION
NEW ORLEANS
NEW ORLEANS, April 6.—(P) The market lacked sustained buying support today and enough liquidation and outside selling developed to bring closing declines of 5 to 8 points.

Port receipts 6,132; for week 40,447; for season 7,363,842. Exports 2,626; for week 19,494; for season 4,000,000. Shipments 1,928.

Stock on shipboards at New Orleans, Galveston and Houston 708; last year 77,006. Spot sales southern markets 4,051; last year 9,139.

Washington Reluctantly Recognizes Annexation in Note to Germany.

WASHINGTON, April 6.—(P)—A note reluctantly recognizing the concrete fact that Germany has annexed Austria went from Washington to Berlin today, accompanied by a bill for $64,493,480.

The bill took the form of a demand that Germany assume Austria's debts to the United States. Firmly, the United States note said: "This government will expect that these obligations will continue to be fully recognized and that service will be continued by the German authorities, which have succeeded in control of the means and machinery of payment in Austria. The welfare of numerous American citizens is directly affected, and this government will appreciate prompt assurances on the subject."

The Washington government displayed no enthusiasm in accepting the fact Austria had disappeared from the ranks of independent nations. "The government of the United States," it told Germany, "finds itself under the necessity, as a practical measure, of closing its legation at Vienna and of establishing a consulate general."

State Department officials hastened to spread the word that the note did not mean recognition in the legal sense, but merely acceptance of something that had occurred.

John C. Wiley, Indiana, becomes consul general in Vienna. He has been charge d'affaires of the legation.

HELP IS SOUGHT FOR EX-NEBRASKAN

Man Held in Prison Camp in Russia.

WASHINGTON, April 6.—(P)—Efforts to obtain the release of Albert H. Troyer, former Nebraskan, from a Russian prison camp, centered today on an informal appeal to Soviet Ambassador Troynovskiy.

Senator Burke, Democrat, Nebraskan, who said he would urge the ambassador to make a personal investigation of the case, asserted Troyer was a Russian citizen, and therefore State Department action was not possible. Troyer gave up American citizenship while he was working in Russia as a citrus fruit expert.

Burke said he would propose Troyer be deported to this country and repatriated as an American citizen. The 71-year-old Nebraskan was reported sentenced to a 10-year prison term on a charge of "counter-revolutionary" activities.

ENVOY TO SPEAK IN MIAMI

WASHINGTON, April 6.—(P)—Cuban Ambassador Pedro Martinez Fraga will leave by train for Miami Friday to speak before the Pan-American League at a ceremony Saturday in observance of Pan-American Day.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—Without Calomel—And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Raring to Go
The liver should pour out two pounds of fluid bile into your bowels daily. If it is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas builds up your stomach. You get constipated. Your whole system is poisoned and you feel sour, sunk and the world looks punk.
A mere bowel movement doesn't get at the cause. It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." Harmless, gentle, yet amazing in making bile flow freely. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name. 35c. Captain W. G. Roper, Retired, Sees Slim Chances for War in Europe.

Captain Walter Gordon Roper, retired naval officer, who once saved a division of destroyers from catastrophe because he refused to follow the leader, was back in Atlanta yesterday chatting with old friends.

The former Atlantan, who is now connected with a New York brokerage firm, is visiting Mr. and Mrs. Spotswood D. Grant, on Howell Mill road.

Back in September, 1923, when two divisions of destroyers in the twelfth squadron crashed on the rocks of Point Honda, Cal., after they misjudged the turning point, it was Captain Roper who saved the third division from destruction by violating the unwritten law of the sea—follow the leader. He was later commended for his disobedience by the secretary of the navy.

Little Chance of War. The captain thinks war possibilities in Europe are slim, but he is not so optimistic about the future of the Americas.

A swarm of pacifist softies have been circulating and penetrating through our nation until we have come to a point where the future of this nation is in danger," he said.

Asked who would wage a war against either of the Americas, Captain Roper replied it would be "some nation that wants a slice of Mexico or Brazil."

"The theory of the pacifist seems to be that we'll be so sweet and kind—sort of a 'she-nation'—that the hard-boiled 'he-nations' will never disturb our tranquillity," he explained.

Sometimes I feel that the pacifist movement has something ulterior in it—that is, an effort to so weaken our morale as to make this country an easy conquest by any nation that is powerful enough to do it."

Captain Roper is in favor of "offense" rather than "defense."

"Offense Not Defense."

"Let us take our war away from our own shores to the shores of the enemy in the event there is a conflict," he advised. "Unless we do that we will become another China and be divided up at will by nations who want what we have."

Quoting a passage from one of Patrick Henry's greatest speeches, Captain Roper said "When I listen to the radio and read in the newspapers about what is going on in

CAMP FIRE GIRLS TO GIVE BROADCAST

West End Group Presents Clean-Up Program.

Camp Fire Girls of the Talahi—or West End—group will present a program at 7 o'clock tonight over radio station WATL as part of their contribution to Clean-Up, Paint-Up, Plant-Up and Fire Prevention Week, being sponsored by the Women's Chamber of Commerce.

Approximately 20 girls will take part on the program, directed by Mrs. Catherine Cobb White, who will be assisted by Mrs. Fred Allman and Mrs. Fred G. Barrett. Martha Nell Allman, president of the group, will make a talk on the purpose of the clean-up drive, later presenting other girls on the program.

Every Camp Fire Girl in Atlanta is aiding in the drive this week by planting rose bushes, shrubs and other flowers, it was said yesterday. Many of the groups are receiving instructions and demonstrations in the growing and arrangement of flowers by Atlanta garden club experts.

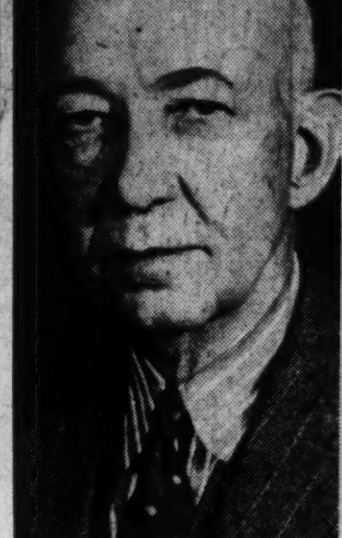

It was announced that 35 bird-feeding stations have been set up by the girls during their conservation program, being observed in connection with Clean-Up Week.

OFFICER ASSAILS DEFENSE POLICIES

Congress' Failure of Support Flayed by Speaker.

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., April 6.—(P)—Captain George R. McElroy, of the Sixth cavalry, Fort Oglethorpe, Ga., in an address before a luncheon club today, criticized every war-time congress for what he said was failure to give national defense proper support.

Speaking on an Army Day program, he said, "When we got into war with Germany we had 55 airplanes, five of which would fly, and 20 trained aviators. We had an arsenal that could turn out eight rifles a day. When we got to France we used French planes. Not a single American plane flew across the battle line. We did not use a single piece of American light artillery; we used French 75's. But the prize gunnery was that we had only enough rifles to equip one division."

WOULD BE DIRECTOR.
WASHINGTON, April 6.—(P)—John D. McCartney, of Savannah, assistant to the receiver of the Central of Georgia railway, asked the Interstate Commerce Commission today for permission to serve as a director of that railroad.

Washington, I feel that we are in the same state of chaos and turmoil that we were in Patrick Henry's day."

During the World War Captain Roper was in command of the U. S. S. Cythera which operated in the Mediterranean. After retiring from the navy, he pioneered in bus transportation in the south. He is a nephew of General John B. Gordon.

On his return to Atlanta yesterday the captain was driving a new high-powered, streamlined automobile, and promised that the next time he comes he will have a yacht. He said his son, Walter Gordon Roper Jr., will accompany him back to New York to become his business associate.
